Recall election decision upheld

By HENRY CANTIN

A Wayne County Circuit Court suit seeking to halt the results of a recall election against three members of the Huron School District's Board of Education has been dismissed.

At a hearing held last Thursday, Circuit Judge Edward S. Higgins upheld the "decisive" decision of the school district's electorate and denied a request for an injunction prohibiting the ouster of the trio from office as the result of the March 29 recall election.

The suit was filed in behalf of Mrs. Howard (Mildred) Bennett, 28111 Brandes, Flat Rock, who was recalled by a vote of 859 to 474; Mrs. Erma Palmer, 32150 Prescott, Romulus, who was recalled by a vote of 805 to 504; and Harry Hartsuff, 21850 Bell Rd., New Boston, who was recalled by a vote of 797 to 515.

The suit initiated by Detroit attorney Larry S. Davidow contended that the school board had failed to give proper notice of the special election as required by state school law.

The trio cited in their suit the law requiring a 35-day notice after the recall petitions were validated by township officials on Feb. 5, 1971.

The school board Secretary Mrs. Jean Richert, replying to the change, stated that the school board followed the legal instruction of the Michigan attorney general's office and school board attorneys and contended further that the State Constitution superseded the state school law cited as a basis for the suit.

The school board had filed with Judge Higgins a motion to dismiss the court action.

A similar motion was filed with the Michigan Court of Appeals.

School Board President Carl K. Rush reported after the dismissal of the suit that the motion seeking dismissal at the state court of appeals would now be withdrawn.

Judge Higgins, in denying the request for the injunction, urged the plaintiffs to appeal his ruling for a final decision on the law involved.

At issue in the case is a law which requires recall election to be held within 35 days after the recall petitions have been certified.

The Huron School District election was held 52 days after the petitions were certified, it was stated.

"Many authorities hold that the language of the law is not mandatory, but is merely directory, and the will of the people ought not be thwarted," Higgins said in explaining his decision.

"I think the case should be decreed by an appellate court," he added, "so I turned down their request for an injunction but urged them to appeal."

Harry Hartsuff, one of the three recalled, said the group was considering taking the case to the Court of Appeals, but that they had not discussed their plans in detail.

"We definitely have to have some kind of final interpretation on this," Hartsuff said. "Until it is cleared up they will have these problems in the future."

Rush fills vacancies on education board

By HENRY CANTIN

Three interim appointments to the Huron School District's Board of Education were announced Monday by Carl K. Rush, president of the Board of Education.

The appointments were made to fill vacancies caused by a voter-approved recall of three current members of the school board in a special recall election held March 29.

Named to serve until the June school election, scheduled for June 14, are William F. Mittlestat, 23886 Merriman Rd., Flat Rock; Elwood E. Krzyske, 28225 Waltz Rd., New Boston; and Lee Betz, 19031 Savage Rd., Huron Township.

School, site of the school board offices.

Ousted from the school board by a decisive vote of the school district's electorate were Mrs. Howard (Mildred) Bennett, 28111 Brandes, Flat Rock; Mrs. Erma Palmer, 32150 Prescott, Romulus; and Harry Hartsuff, 45, of 21850 Bell Rd., New Boston.

The three were elected to the school board in June of last year.

The new school board members agreed to serve until June and were administered the oath of office by Rush on Saturday.

Mittlestat is a former member of the school board. He served for three and one half years and then resigned because of his personal

He and his wife, Joanne, are the parents of three children: two sons and one daughter. They are Donald 18; Mark, 16; and Kay, 14.

Mittlestat was born on West Rd., in Huron Township. He is employed by the Vamp Co., Gibraltar.

Krzyske, 47, has been a resident of Huron Township all his life. He is one of Huron Township's leading businessmen, owning and operating a retail lumber company.

He and his wife, Arlene, are parents of five children, four girls and one boy; Mrs. Linda Ernest, Penny, 20, Judy, 19, Kevin, 15, and Pamela, 7.

Both Mittlestat and Krzyske, in accepting their appointment, stated that they would not be candidates in the June election.

Lee Betz has been a resident of the Huron Township community for seven years. He is a native of New Jersey.

Betz and his wife, Janet, are parents of three boys: Kevin, 17, Raymond, 12, and Kellen, 9. All are students in Huron schools.

Betz operates an engineering consulting and technical service company in Detroit.

NEW SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS -- The Huron School District's Board of Education has made interim appointments to the school district's school board last Saturday. The new school board members will serve until the June school election. They fill the vacancies caused by the recall of three board members, Mrs. Mildred Bennett, Mrs. Erma Palmer and Harry Hartsuff. Receiving the oath of office from School Board President Carl K. Rush are (from left) William F. Mittlestat, 23886 Merriman Rd., Flat Rock; Elwood E. Krzyske, 28225 Waltz Rd., New Boston; and Lee Betz, 19031 Savage Rd., Huron Township. Mittlestat is a former member of the school board who resigned after more than three years on the board for business reasons.

In Romulus Urban Renewal program

Good development guaranteed

Editor's Note: The City of Romulus has initiated its first Urban Renewal Program. The first phase of the program, involving 175 acres of land in the Wayne-Beverly Rds. area, awaits final approval of a federal grant application made by the city, which is expected soon. The following article is the second of two-part series on the city's Urban Renewal Redevelopment Program that embraces a total of 575 acres by George Wilhelm, director of Urban Renewal for Romulus.

One of the questions I have heard expressed by a number of people is: "How can we be sure of a good development within the Project?"

I can personally assure the city council and the planning commission that the renewal area will be developed to their satisfaction. It can be no other way.

The City of Romulus will be purchasing the Urban Renewal Land) the City of Romulus will be paying the streets, putting in the storm drains, developing the parks, and the City of Romulus will be selling the land.

In addition, before any deed is passed for any piece of property, all development plans must be approved by the Citizens' District Council, the planning commission and the city council. This includes a review of the financial background of all developers, the qualifications of all developers and the approval of the detailed construction plans themselves.

If the city council the planning commission, or the district council are not in agreement with what the developer proposes to build, the developer does not build it.

I know for a fact that in one particular case, in one project in the Detroit area, that after a developer had signed an option to purchase the property, his proposed development plans were turned down three times by the city council of that municipality and when the developer refused to make the changes requested by the city, his option was cancelled and the land sold to someone else, who would develop the land the way the City had wanted it.

Another statement I frequently hear is "the $3500,000 Federal Grant was not really a Grant, since it was our money, our tax money, anyway." This is true, but be assured that, should the City of Romulus, refuse the $3,500,000 it will not decrease the over-all Federal Budget one penny.

At the present time there is only $2 billion in the federal budget to cover approximately $4 billion of applications now being reviewed by HUD. If Romulus does not accept the money it will go to either Garden City or Ann Arbor, which is starting a new project, or one of the other 56 different cities in the State of Michigan which are now proposing projects.

More than likely it will go to the City of Detroit, which at the present time receives approximately $40 million a year in Federal Urban Renewal monies. I do not think the City of Romulus is so rich that it can afford to give the City of Detroit, or any other Michigan city $3,500,000.

Should it be necessary for the city to sell Redevelopment Bonds in order to secure the Suit delayed by absent attorney

The taking of depositions in a court suit involving the teaching of sex education in Huron Township schools was delayed for a third time last Friday.

The failure of Larry S. Davidow, Detroit attorney, who initiated the Wayne County Circuit Court suit in behalf of four Huron Township mothers, to appear at the Hannan Road Elementary School, caused the postponement.

School Board President Carl K. Rush objected to the delay caused by the "apparent unwillingness to cooperate by the plaintiff's attorney." He said, "we had a court reporter and our legal counsel present. These delays are costing the school district money and we certainly object to this."

Rush stated that a letter of confirmation on the scheduled meeting was sent to Davidow and further, that school board attorney Thomas Norberg had talked to Davidow at 4 p.m. the day before. He assured him that he would be at the meeting. The taking of depositions was requested by the plaintiff's attorney, Rush said.

The court suit was filed against the present four school board officers and School Superintendent Byron K. Antcliff.

A preliminary injunction asked for in the suit was not issued by the court.

School board officers named in the suit are Rush, president; Mrs. Jean Richert, board secretary; and Trustees Leo Kyko and Charles Larabell.

Housing court suit seeking damages for devaluation

The residents of the Meadows, located at Harrison and Eureka Rds. also seek $400,000 in relocation costs and damages for alleged "fraud, misrepresentations, breach of contract and warranty."

Oakland Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore has ordered defendant firms named in the suit to appear April 21 to show cause why they should not be restrained from building 2,000 government-subsidized "land tract" homes in the subdivision.

The residents charge the new housing is lowering the value of their property.

The defendant firms, listing their address as 18610 Eight Mile Rd. Southfield, are: Home Values, Inc., Kaufman and Broad Homes Inc., Greenview Homes Inc., Kaufman and Broad Sales Inc., and International Mortgage Corp.

The forty plaintiff-homeowners charge in their suit that prior to buying their homes they were assured by the firms that the development would be "a custom home community, not a project of low income homes." All the homes were purchased within the last two years.

The homeowners claim that 400 homes, financed through the FHA mortgage subsidy program, already are occupied and another 2,000 are planned.

They also charge their own lots are smaller than agreed upon and the ovens, windows, paneling, furnaces, stoves, doors and cabinets are not as promised.

The attorney for the plaintiffs Neal L. Grossman, charged that construction of the subsidy housing devalued the original 40 homes, which cost from $20,000 to $29,000.

The new ones are smaller, the attorney said and are "standardized."

"Most of them (the new residents) are ADC clients and are in effect, fully subsidized by the government, while my clients had to work hard to save up the money for their down payments," Grossman said.

The attorney added that FHA is violating the constitutional rights of the original families by supporting the smaller homes, thus devaluing the first houses.

The suit asked Judge Moore to appoint a receiver to supervised further development of the subdivision.

Withdrawal bill is passed by House

Legislation empowering voters in the cities covered by Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) to withdraw their membership in halfway through the legislature.

The hotly debated bill passed the House by a 73-20 margin Monday night.

Rep. Alex Pilch (D-32 District), ssaid chances for the bill are brighter than they were last year when it passed the House but died in the Senate.

"It went over there pretty late in the season last year," he said. "We think it will do better this year."

PCHA levies a proportionate fee on its 23 members to operate Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park and Seaway Hospital in Trenton and the Poson Information Center in Lincoln Park.

Pilch has been fighting for the bill for two years at the request of Dearborn Heights, which in the past has sought a way to withdraw from PCHA. It has become a political problem for Pilch, who draws more votes from Inkster and other parts of his district which oppose the bill than he does from Dearborn Heights.

The issue threatens a similar problem for a new senator from the area, David A. Plawewski (D-12th District) whose district spreads over other areas covered by PCHA.

Pilch stressed he had no quarrel with the present operation of PCHA, but feels that members should be allowed to withdraw.

The present law requires a majority vote of the PCHA board of directors to approve the withdrawal of any of the members, a requirement Pilch said is impossible to meet.

Open burning banned

Open burning in the City of Romulus is prohibited by city ordinance and will be strictly enforced, Romulus Fire Chief Joseph Crova warned Monday.

The fire chief's warning followed a series of open grass fires in the city.

More than 50 grass fires have occurred in the past few days. Some of them have been caused by the carelessness of residents, he said.

"The ordinance prohibits any kind of burning in the city. We intend to issue violation tickets to willful violators of the ordinance," Crova warned.

He reported that certain type of burning under approved conditions is allowed, but only by a permit approved and issued by the Wayne County Department of Health, Air Pollution Division.

Administrative act meant to increase public fairness

As government becomes larger and more complicated, government agencies perform a greater role than ever before. A whole host of state and federal agencies touch the lives of our citizens in numerous ways, reported

Michigan's Atty-Gen. Frank J. Kelley. Here in Michigan state agencies regulate everything from public utilities to landscape architects. These agencies usually consist of a board, commission or department created by the legislature. The members of these agencies are usually appointed by the governor.

The procedures these agencies follow and the rights of citizens who deal with these agencies have become an important topic of discussion for lawyer and layman alike. Michigan's new administrative procedures act is the latest attempt to define the legal relations between administrative agencies, the public and the government they serve.

The act was adopted in 1969 and became effective last July 1.

Although earlier Michigan law addressed this subject, the new act has the effect of modernizing Michigan's attitude toward government agencies. The primary purpose of the new administrative procedures act is to increase the accountability of the public and insure that the individual citizens who deal with agencies are treated fairly and equally.

Michigan's administrative agencies now have more detailed requirements and standards to observe when dealing with the public. The right of individuals to inspect agency records has been expanded. For those who are called to appear before agencies, elaborate procedures are required to guarantee a fair hearing.

An individual's right to appeal administrative decisions to our courts has been clarified. Records taken during administrative proceedings must now be more complete in order to give reviewing courts an accurate picture of what transpired. A citizen's right to know how and why an agency operates in a particular field has been enlarged.

The rule-making power of administrative agencies is now more complete. The new administrative procedures act expands the procedures to be followed by agencies when they adopt rules.

Before adopting a rule the agency must have a public hearing to allow interested citizens to present their views. Those persons likely to be affected by a proposed rule must be given reasonable notice of when and where the public hearing will be held.

Rules adopted by deliberately evading the above notice and hearing provisions are deemed invalid. In addition, a citizen may request an agency to promulgate a rule. The agency has 90 days after the filing of a request to initiate the processing of the requested rule or issue a written statement explaining why the request is denied.

A complicated, mass society needs government agencies to implement the law. The methods these agencies use, particularly when they affect private citizens, are extremely important in maintaining personal freedom in a modern world. Michigan's new administrative procedures act is our latest attempt to address this delicate body of the law. Amendments have already been made to the new act.

It is certain that more amendments will follow. Nevertheless, Michigan's new administrative procedures act has been acclaimed as the most advance legislation in this area of the law.

Of thought and expression

Public education is freedom

Editor's Note: The following article on Public Education was submitted by Edward Kind of 27590 Pennsylvania Rd., Romulus. We pass it on to our readers for their consideration.

By EDWARD KIND

Public education by definition is the freedom of education. Hopefully, this statement is agreed upon as truth among all freedom loving peoples.

Public education is our guarantee of keeping in force our natural freedoms; among these are freedom of thought, freedom of expression and freedom of religion. These freedoms enable us to acquire individuality without which we could not have individual convictions.

Public education reveals the privilege of choice, enabling us to choose the church of our choice, or to choose any idea of religion our reason may design that is not injurious to the common good. Even the agnostic under this system may have a place in our free society.

same time keeping in force separation of church and state.

Public education gives the student the power of his conviction in the class room debate. Our educational system encourages controversy. Senior students are capable in the discussion of questionable subjects as medicare, sex education, inflation, air pollution, growing population, birth control, abortion, Vietnam conflict.

Our educators, because of their upbringing in a free society are capable of guiding the discourse of these subjects along constructive lines. We have the option to encourage more interest among our senior students in these subjects and related subjects, to better enable our future leaders for their ever increasing responsibilities.

Public education by its very nature instills within the student an incentive for knowledge, keeping the young minds of the nation open and challenging.

The essence of freedom itself inspired our forefathers with their speeches to rally a handful of patriots to conquer a nation.

Our country is now in a position as never before to lose our natural heritage. The blame for this does not lay with our leaders alone, nor does the blame lay with the common people alone.

We must take the blame for this faltering society as one nation. Let us retrench and hold, then move forward for there is no other direction or alternative.

Freedom of thought and expressions are the first dignities of men.

Public education is freedoms last battleship and it is leaking at every seam.

Public education keeps freedom alive, reminding us that our private institutions are sacred. Where it is possible to teach exclusively any individual doctrine from Darwin's Theory of Evolution to the Creation according to the Book of Genesis.

Public education encourages plurality of thought, recognizing that any idea is subject for consideration or charge if reason rules it so.

Renewal means improvements

$750,000 local share, the increased taxes from the $10 million in redevelopment will pay off these bonds in a matter of 5 or 6 years. This does not take into account the approximately $500,000 the city will receive from sewer and water tap fees, in connection with the development.

I believe that, by all standards, the Wayne-Beverly Renewal project No. 1, Mich. R-187 is a good investment. Financially any investment which will pay for itself in a matter of 5 or 6 years and start returning revenue is a good investment.

Physically, any investment which provides a better living environment for people and at the same time decreases maintenance and service costs is a good investment.

But more importantly I believe this program to be a real investment in the future of Romulus and the first step in assuring that all of its citizens, whether long-time residents or new residents, whether young or old have an opportunity to partake of the new prosperity which is coming to their City.

Railroad to hear from city council

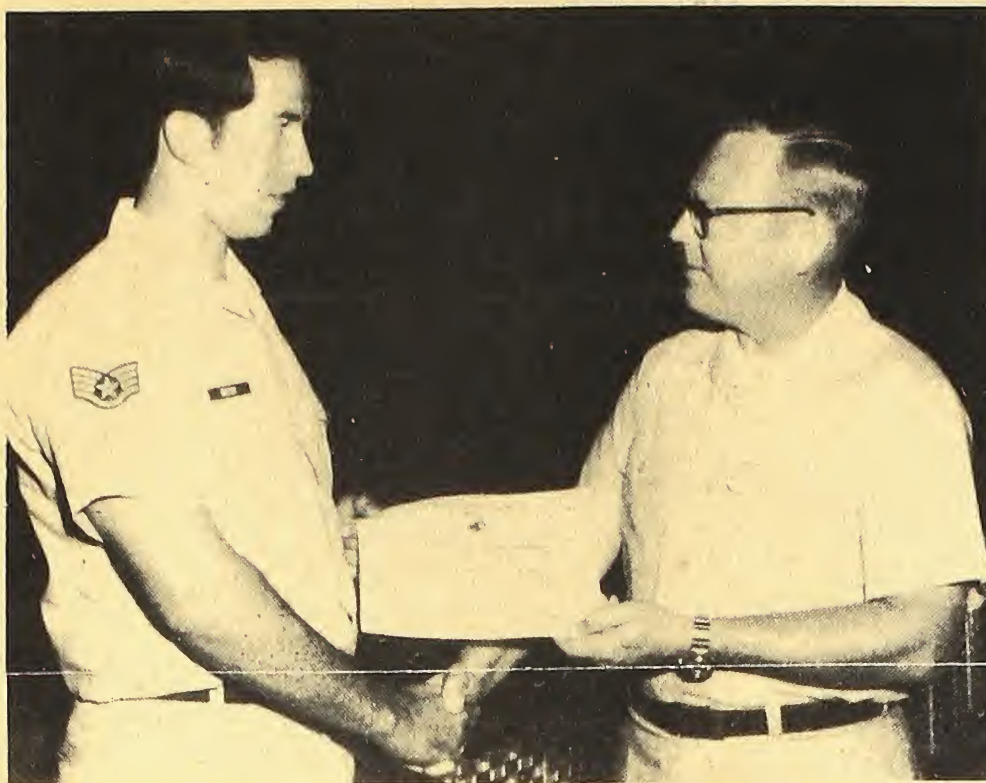

Romulus' legal counsel John E. Young has been directed by City Council to take whatever action is necessary to make the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Co. repair its crossing on Goddard Rd., between Shook Rd. and Hunt St.

Members of city council as well as city residents have made numerous complaints on the crossing which they charge is in "bad need of repair."

Council's order instructing the city attorney to take immediate action followed a previous request to the railroad that failed to bring an immediate response.

Councilman Ellis T. Pennington made the motion requesting the city attorney to take some legal action if necessary to correct conditions at the crossing.

Water program bids opened by council

Romulus City Council has approved the letting of contract bids for the city's 1971 water and sanitary sewer construction program.

The council, in approving the taking of bids, instructed the city engineers, Wade, Trim & Associates, Inc., of Taylor, to prepare specifications for use by bidders.

The deadline for the submission of sealed bids will be set upon completion of specification preparation, Leonard J. Folmar, city clerk, announced Monday.

The city's water program has an estimated construction cost of $251,000. It involves Henry Ruff Water Main from Ecorse Rd. to Van Born Rd.; Inkster Road Water Replacement from Goddard Rd. south; Pennsylvania Rd. from 1,200 feet east of Vining Rd. to existing main 2,000 east; and Hannan Rd. extension.

The sanitary sewer construction program for the current year has an estimated construction cost of $659,000. The sewer program involves the following areas:

Chase and Hannan Rds. Sanitary Sewer; Grant Rd. and Huron River Dr., south side, of Ecorse Rd., between Hannan and Cogswell Rds.; east side of Huron River Dr. north of Eureka Rd., south side of North Line Rd. from Harrison to Homefield St.,

Wade and Cogswell Rds., Inkster Rd. north of Goddard Rd.; and Jones St. from Goddard to Ozga Rds.

Folmar also announced that letters have been sent to residents whose homes are not connected with current water and sewer lines urging them to do so as the Wayne County Department of Health is requiring compliance with health rules and regulations.

Preliminary step taken for PTSA

Preliminary steps were taken to form a PTSA (Parent, Teacher, Student Association) at the Romulus Senior High School last Wednesday evening when nearly 100 parents, teachers and high school students met in the freshman cafeteria.

The meeting was chaired by Earl Lamb, assistant high school principal, who shared opening remarks with Mrs. Gerald Kubiak, parent organizer.

Mrs. Marti Sleicher, regional representative from the Michigan Congress of PTA's told about procedures necessary to form a PTSA.

Following registration of members, five committees were formed; a nominating committee, constitution and by-laws committee, activities committee, membership committee and communications committee each selected chairmen and secretaries. They then set to work forming a plan of action.

Delinquent tax settled

The Wayne County Treasurer's office reported Monday that February delinquent tax settlement for Romulus amounted to $22,026.07.

The delinquent tax settlement consisted of $15,012.29 for school operation tax, $5,103.06 for city operation tax, $220.14 for miscellaneous assessments and $1,690.58 in interest.

The funds will be turned over the City Treasurer Albert Glinksi.

Review board adjusts land reassessments

A minute study and recheck of Romulus' 1971 land reassessments by the Romulus Board of Review has resulted in 826 tax adjustments, Harold L. Reiner, city assessor, announced Monday.

Majority of the adjustments made on land reappraisals by the Board of Review were to the benefit of the taxpayer, Reiner reported.

The Board of Review voiced strong protests against the land reappraisals when they were submitted to the city assessor by the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation.

A special session of the Board of Review was immediately called upon receipt of the figures by the taxation bureau.

The board found that the county had reassessed some land sites higher than market value and in other instances totals were "out-of-line."

Reiner reported that the board of review found in its study that some land reassessments were too low and many others too high.

Letters showing the corrected land assessed valuations made by the Board of Review will be sent to the property owners. Letters will also be forwarded to the 160 property owners who appeared before the annual sessions of the Board of Review held in March showing tax adjustments on their land assessments.

The 1971 land reassessments show an increase of $20,000,000 over the 1970. In some instances, the land reappraisals were hiked by the county taxation bureau 4 to 5 times previous valuations before applying the state equalization factor, it was reported.

The new adjustments reduce the 1971 valuations by $1 million Reiner reported.

Faust explains vote on 18-year-old voting

State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District) was one of twelve senators who voted

Two jailed to await sentencing

Awaiting sentencing, scheduled for April 28, are two Wayne men who pleaded guilty to robbery charges growing out of a Romulus holdup last November.

Presently in the Wayne County Jail are Howard O. Manning, 29, and Randy M. Henson, 17, both of Wayne.

They were arrested by Romulus police last Nov. 6 and charged with robbing at gunpoint two young couples parked in a car on Hildebrandt just east of Harrison.

Manning pleaded guilty before Wayne Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore to an armed robbery charge.

Henson pleaded guilty before Wayne Circuit Judge John D. O'Hair to a lesser charge of assault with intent to rob while armed with a dangerous weapon.

against a House Joint Resolution to ratify an amendment to the U.S. Constitution giving persons 18 years of age or older the right to vote. In debate on the resolution Wednesday afternoon in the Senate, Faust made the following remarks:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate: 'I speak in opposition to this resolution... not because of personal belief, because I have supported the 18-year-old vote since I was in high school. I've supported the vote both politically and publicly.

"The issue here today has been summed up as a matter of conscience; the question is said to be if the 18-year-old should be allowed to vote. I don't think that's the question at all.

"The question is deeper. All of us are aware of the generation gap; the approval of this resolution brings about a much more significant political gap. Twice the people of this state have used the political process to say no now the people's representatives are about to overrule that opinion, and say yes.

"This resolution is supposed to help this state's young, make them part of the system. But can our youth, our inquiring young, have respect for a system that overrides the vote of the majority?"

"The political gap widens between young and old, between the government and the people. Tonight, most of us in this Senate will go home, forget the action here today, and wonder why."

Council meeting reslated

The next meeting of Romulus City Council will be held at 8 p.m. April 15, City Clerk Leonard J. Folmar announced Monday.

The meeting was originally scheduled for last Thursday, but was postponed until the later date because of just a two-day separation from a prior council session.

Library Week brings local system into focus

National Library Week is to be observed April 18-24. Its purpose is, "To create a better-read, better-informed American by encouraging lifetime reading habits and stimulating greater library use."

Books have a singular importance unequalled by any other method of human expression. They are the storehouse of knowledge and wisdom that perpetuates civilization from one generation to the next.

A full education is impossible to attain without resorting to the knowledge that is accessible nowhere but in the great books that have been produced over centuries. It is no coincidence that suppression of books is one of the first acts of any despot who fears the wisdom of human experience as recorded in books that can be found in virtually any library.

National Library Week serves to remind us that we are indeed a wealthy nation - wealthy because we possess two vital ingredients of library: thousands of libraries where the world's knowledge is stored and freedom of the press to utilize that knowledge for the advancement of mankind.

Wayne County's Federated Library System, with 53 branches, offers every citizen of the county the chance to use this wealth of resources, no matter which part of Wayne County they live in.

The library system has branches for our readers in Belleville, Garden City, Huron Township, Inkster, Romulus, Sumpter Township and Wayne-Westland.

Serving its many publics, the system brings books, tapes, films, microfilms, records - in short, all the instruments of learning, for the good and pleasure of the entire community, from its youngest to its oldest members.

Since its establishment in 1920 as part of the Detroit Public Library and later in 1943 when Wayne County officials made it a separate department of county government, important measures of library growth, use, number of agencies, book collections and population served have doubled in the last three decades. Continued growth in volume as well as in scope appears likely.

The system provides many essential library services, some that most are not even aware of.

Approximately 150,000 books are processed annually for the library and 10 school districts.

The film library has tabulated 16,000 showings to audiences of over one million people. The system's collection of 16,000 films may be borrowed by community groups without charge.

The library for the blind and physically handicapped develops meaningful programs, such as volunteer tape recording units, and participates in various workshops and conferences.

Also, free borrowing privileges in any member library are extended to citizens of all member communities, providing access to combined collections of 1.3 million volumes.

During the past four years, 24 libraries have become members of the system. As a system grows, the community benefits. Readers are urged to take advantage of the many, free services offered by a strong library system.

Speaking of schools

Problem solving okayed

By ROBERT L. MCCONEGHY
School Superintendent
Romulus Community Schools

The following problem solving procedure for individuals or groups was passed by the Romulus Community schools' Board of Education.

Problems involving a general school nature should be taken directly to the principal.

Problems involving students in a particular classroom situation should be brought to the attention of the classroom teacher for first consideration. This can be accomplished by calling the school office and requesting an appointment with the teacher.

If a satisfactory solution cannot be found with the teacher, the next step in the solution of the problem is consultation with the school principal. If the principal and teacher are unable to solve the problem, the problem should be taken to the appropriate member of the central office staff.

Problems involving special education, programs for exceptional children, standardized school-wide testing, psychological and psychiatric services, speech therapy, hearing, homebound, physically handicapped programs, attendance and audio-visual services, nursing and social work services should be taken to the director of special services.

Problems involving the continuing education program (evening, adult, high school completion), pre-school program, school community relations, federally and state supported programs should be taken to the director of state and federal programs.

Problems involving "Act of God" disruption of the school day, unscheduled dismissals, student transportation, cafeterias, destruction of property, and problems involving building service personnel, should be taken to the director of maintenance and operation.

Problems involving school boundaries, transfers, individual attendance areas, tuition questions, class sizes, membership, permanent student records, publicity, public relations, professional personnel, labor relations should be taken to the assistant superintendent.

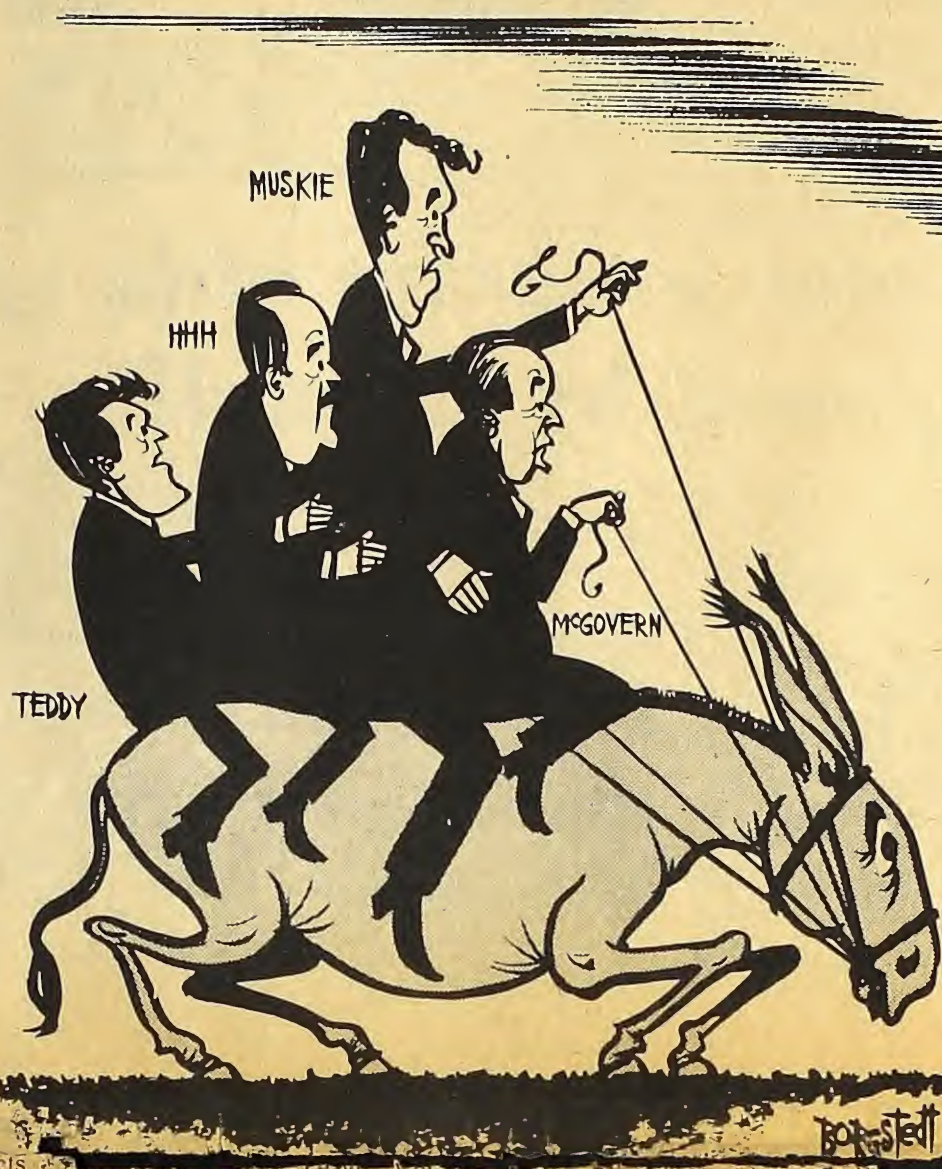

Problems involving curriculum, instruction, finance, building and bonding and millage programs, elections and board policy and all other problems not solved should be taken to the superintendent of schools.

Should the problem be of such a nature that it requires board action, it may then be placed on the agenda of the Board of Education. This may be accomplished by written request to the superintendent of schools with a copy to the president of the Board of Education.

Close cooperation between the schools and the community is essential for progress in education.

Reader says nation decaying within self

Dear People of Huron Township:

I can plainly see the handwriting on the wall. Our great nation is fast decaying within itself as Rome did centuries ago, during the rise and fall of that great empire.

I am sorry to have to remind you that our statutory laws mean almost nothing now and it will be up to the people of our great nation to search their hearts and correct this before it is too late. That is, if they care enough.

I am greatly relieved to know the long struggle is over for me and that I am finally out from under this heavy burden. But, I must say, out of the whole thing, I have had the pleasure of meeting and working with a great number of wonderful people that I would not have known otherwise.

I have no regrets. I harbor no hatred toward anyone. I am not ashamed to say, I have fought a good fight in all fairness and honesty. Thanks to the many people who backed me so faithfully.

God bless you, Huron Township, and may you let God lead you in the right direction.

Your friend, always,
MRS. MILDRED BENNETT

Open letter requests center for city's young

To the editor:

An open letter to the mayor of Belleville and the supervisor of Ban Vuren Township.

I am a senior at Belleville High School and 17 years old. Although I will be leaving this community soon and going to college, I would like to say a few things for the kids that will be living here.

community. We are not wanted at the bowling alley, we are not wanted gathering around in empty parking lots, and the only things that stay open at night are the pool hall and the dairy bar. That sounds like fun doesn't it? What else is there? We could walk around the streets, stand in front of the stores and get harassed by the police. Is this what you want?

I've talked to a member of the Student Council and was told that I have their support. I don't know if anything will be done or not, but if adults care and want to do something instead of just talking or criticizing the youths of today, now is the time.

I know adults must realize there just isn't anything or anywhere for us to go in this

I've read in the papers that Belleville has received money from HUD. Why don't you think about building a Youth Center for us.

There is a saying on television at 11 p.m. which says, "Do you know where your children are?"

Wouldn't it be nice if you could truly say, "Yes." Rick Akans

Thank God for flag; now get after railroad

To the editor:

Thank God we have the American Flag flying over our City Hall after a long fight.

Now I wonder how long it takes to have our city fathers to act on the railroad crossing on Goddard Rd., next to the Manufacturers National Bank. The crossing at the track is a disgrace to our City of Romulus.

If the railroad won't fix it up then the city should and bill the railroad. We need action not promises.

More bills clearing Michigan legislature

As the 1971 session progresses, increasing numbers of bills are being cleared by both the House and Senate and sent to the governor for his signature.

Two very recent examples are a House bill which permits paying for license plates and driver's licenses with personal checks and Senate measure which permits corporations to hold bank stock.

The pay-by-check bill would, of course, be a convenience to great numbers of Michigan residents. Also, by reducing the amount of cash money on hand it would reduce the chances of thefts at Secretary of State branch offices.

The checks would have to be made out for the exact amount. The Secretary of State would be able to suspend a Driver's license in case of a bad check. Once signed into law by the governor the bill would be effective on July 1.

With the permission to pay for plates by check, the door was opened for eventual purchase of license plates by mail from the Secretary of State.

The House passed the bill permitting corporations to hold bank stock without amendment. Michigan presently is one of only two states prohibiting corporate bank holding companies. There was some House opposition to the bill by members who claimed it could lead to bank failures similar to those in the 1930s and that it would concentrate bank resources in the hands of the few.

It was pointed out, however, that things that happened in the 30s are not particularly relevant today, especially in light of stiffer regulations. Also, it was noted, the bill would help to bring money into local communities. In fact, one of the bill's major aims is to permit the resources of corporate bank holding companies to be used to increase the capital of bank affiliates and increase the administrative proficiency.

Supporters of the bill also cited several safeguards in the 1970 amendments to the Federal Bank Holding Company Act, including approval from the Federal Reserve Board for purchase by companies, with consideration of competitive factors, resources and future prospects of the companies involved and the needs of the community involved.

In the area of mentally ill, it had been necessary for the probate judge to appoint two physicians to examine the patients and certify that he was mentally ill. The costs of this were borne by the county.

Under a new law it is now possible for probate court to eliminate the appointments in cases in which the superintendent or a member of his medical staff at an institution where the patient is temporarily held file a detailed psychiatric report which certified the patient is mentally ill.

Other bills passed by the House would:

...Set the withdrawal date of accumulated deposits in reciprocal retirement systems.

...Permit certain associations to be nonprofit corporations if sick and burial benefits for each member do not exceed $5,000.

...Lower fees of debt management companies.

Crime and violence are of concern not only to citizens of this district, but to all law-abiding people everywhere. They are of concern to the Michigan legislature, also. The rising tide of violence, crime and threats to public safety has been reflected in great numbers of bills introduced in the Legislature.

Memory: safe sanctuary

NEW YORK — Memory is the safest sanctuary in life.

It is a retreat from the shrill fears and alarms of today. Memory enables us to retreat in spirit to the past and keep the best of yesterday alive. To recall some of those yesterdays may be painful, but they cannot kill us because we have already survived their worst hurt.

Anyway, the passage of time softens the blunt blows of earlier events and tends to bathe them in a wistful nostalgia.

You have a pretty extensive museum of memories in your own head and heart if you can look back and remember when—

Someone in your family sat down on a darning needle, and the worse part of the experience was having friends bring it up as a joke for years afterwards.

About the only women pickets were members of the WCTU marching back and forth trying to get a saloon to close its doors if it was near a school or church.

Mothers weren't sure they liked their daughter to go steady with a suitor so spendthrift he bought suits with only one pair of pants.

The well-to-do buttered their bread, the poor simply covered it with a sorghum.

Anyone who kept a fire extinguisher in his home was regarded as something of an eccentric and an alarmist.

Most boys could harness a horse and most girls milk a cow by the age of 12.

An effete person was anyone who thought it indelicate to use a toothpick at the table after meal.

You had made it socially in a small town if you were asked to join the volunteer firemen or sing with a local barbershop quartet.

Only old ladies wore wigs.

More women were praised for their biscuits than their beauty. It was expected that a son would not only provide a home for his aged parents but also pay any debts left by his father.

A majority of Americans asked help from God rather than the government.

Those were the days-remember?

Environment program scheduled

A top member of the Federal Government's Environmental Protection Agency and Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley will be key speakers at a statewide conference on "Regaining and Financing Environmental Programs" Wednesday, April 21, at the Olds Plaza Hotel, Lansing.

Eugene T. Jensen, assistant commissioner for operations of the Environmental Protection Agency's Water Quality Office, will deliver the keynote address (at 9:30 a.m.) at the day-long conference, according to the sponsoring Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

An estimated 300 Michigan business and industry leaders are expected to attend the meeting of which 30 different pollution control equipment manufacturers will exhibit their products.

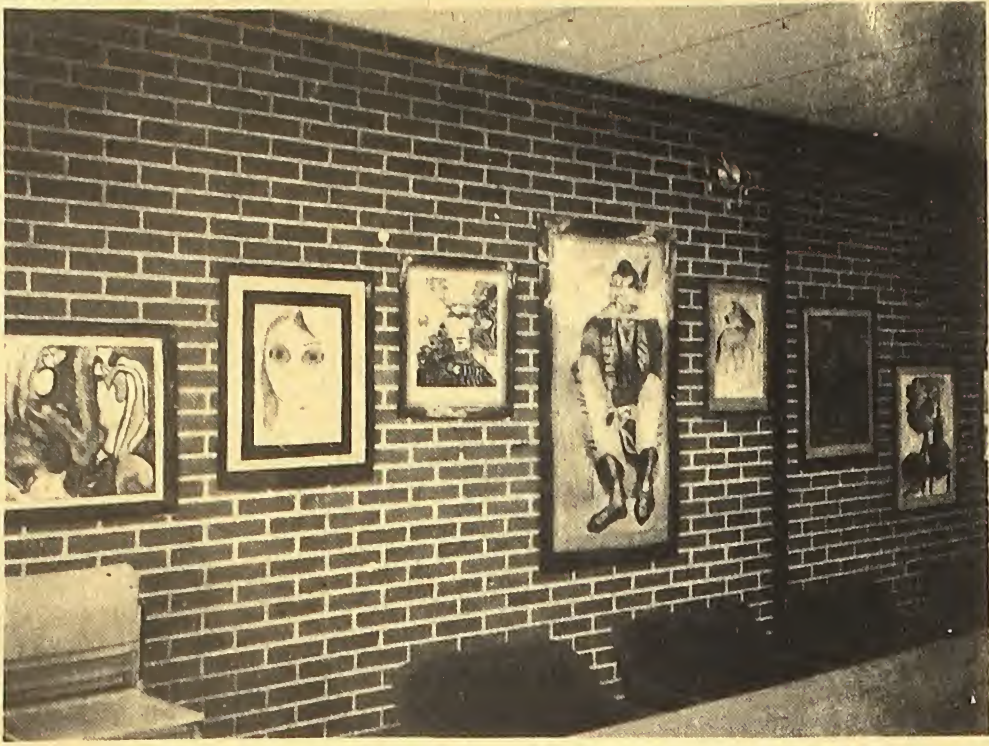

Purpose of the conference, according to State Chamber President Harry R. Hall, is to provide "businessmen and government officials at all levels the opportunity of becoming thoroughly informed about the problems and solutions to financing air, water and solid waste abatement programs."

Blight poses questions

As the 1971 growing season approaches, a large question mark remains concerning the Southern corn leaf blight according to Nick Smith, chairman, Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Weather-blight studies, he stated, suggest that where weather conditions are favorable for corn growth, conditions will also be favorable for blight development. A recent weather and crop bulletin published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, he added, indicates a strong potential for blight in 1971.

Smith noted that a collection of working materials on the blight and tips for dealing with corn blight in 1971 have been published in a booklet entitled "Corn Blight Factors in 1971." It would be wise, Smith stated, for every cornfarmer in Michigan to review the contents of this booklet.

A free copy of this booklet is available by writing to the Corn Blight Information Center, USDA, Washington, DC 20250.

Facts, Smith stated, for a grower to consider when attempting to predict probable occurrence of blight in 1971 include determination of the degree of resistance or susceptibility as reflected by the hybrid seed to be planted, as well as the site of the field. Lowlands and river bottoms are more conducive to blight infections.

Other factors include: Was there blight in the field in 1970? Also, date of planting (because some areas of early planted corn in 1970 escaped severe damage). Smith also mentioned other factors, such as rate of planting, weed and grass control, air pollution, stagnant air masses and cloudiness which tend to prevent drying out of corn plants following rain and dew. Presence of protectant fungicides would also be a factor; however, Smith added, costs of spraying large field corn acreage might be prohibitive.

Every source of information should be utilized by farmers, Smith added, to help them make proper decisions on their 1971 corn crop. Smith noted that a Corn Blight Information Center has been established in the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Washington, DC, and information is channeled down to the County Extension offices periodically, so that farmers will have a ready source of the latest information on the corn blight situation.

Smith also mentioned the fact that a sale of CCC steel bins at the Elsie Binsite, Elsie, Michigan, has been planned for 12:30 p.m., Monday, April 26, 1971. Sale will be by auction to the highest bidder. Inspection of the bins may be made by appointment with the Clinton County ASCS Office, 100 S. Ottawa Street, St. Johns, Michigan 48879.

Life insurance not do-it-yourself

Libraries are filled with "how to" books, and as a result, people are undertaking all kinds of things they previously hired others to do.

In this do-it-yourself era, the Institute of Life Insurance urges American families to be cautious in trying to apply to do-it-yourself idea to the purchase of life insurance protection. For many families, life insurance is the total plan for their financial future. It is therefore vital that it is not be endangered by inexperienced handling.

There's a great deal you should be concerned about if you want to avoid shortchanging yourself and your family. You might buy the wrong kind or wrong size policy for your needs. Or you may have failed to keep an initially sound plan in step with changes in your family and income.

Whatever the reason, your insurance may need a tune-up, if not an overhaul. You can tell for sure by running your insurance through the following "do-it-yourself" tests. Each is designed to alert you to a specific problem.

Do you have enough life insurance to provide your family with a reasonable income?

Do you have the right kind of policies?

Are you paying your premiums in the most economical way?

How are you using your policy dividends?

Have you considered an income for your family rather than proceeds in a lump sum?

Will your money go to the right people?

If any of these questions give rise to doubts about your own life insurance protection, the Institute advises you to review your program with the family's life insurance agent.

Carnival draws 1,000

The annual Spring Carnival at the Rawsonville Elementary School attracted approximately 1,000 children and parents.

The yearly event, held on April 2, presented 26 door prizes to lucky ticket holders. The proceeds of the spring carnival will be used to purchase something beneficial to the school, sponsoring officials reported.

Pizza from Jim's Market was the main dish of the evening. Hot dogs, soft drinks, pop corn and potato chips were also served.

Games and prizes drew many participants. The games included Hoop-la, Ring Toss, and bowling.

PART OF THE CROWD -- Rawsonville Elementary School's annual Spring Carnival drew about 1,000 children and parents. Part of the crowd displayed is busily engaged in doing away with numerous pizzas that were served at the event.

Criminal code changes is target of committee

Complete revision of Michigan's Code of Criminal Procedure is the target of a newly formed special committee of the State Bar of Michigan.

The 25-member group will include judges, legislators, prosecutors, criminal defense lawyers and representatives of Michigan police and corrections agencies.

Its chairman will be Wayne County Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore, who headed a similar committee which formulated a proposed Revised Criminal Code for Michigan, now under consideration by the Legislature.

That project involved examination, revision and

Draft booklet available

Where can a young man go to find everything he wants to know about his options under the military draft law?

The answer is in the newly revised Draft Information Booklet which can be obtained now for $1.50 from the Youth Leadership Division of the Catholic Youth Organization, 305 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226, telephone 963-7172.

This new second edition of the booklet is just out. It contains added material on the draft lottery system, and an expanded discussion of eligibility for the conscientious-objector classification and how to seek such classification, plus other revisions.

"Many young men do not know how long they are eligible for the draft," says Ed Roberge director of the Youth Leadership Division. "Many are not familiar with the physical standards. Many have no notion of the range of specialized careers for which they may be trained in the military. The booklet enables them to find the correct answers fast."

The booklet, which the CYO first published in October, 1970, contains all the facts anyone needs to know where to go and whom to see to discuss all phases of a man's rights, responsibilities and opportunities under Selective Service. The book is also a useful compilation of general information about the draft law and about the alternatives.

The publication of the codification of the substance of Michigan's laws dealing with crime and penalties — what constitutes a crime or violation and what the penalties should be.

Problems of delay, unnecessary technical complications and barriers to the use of modern techniques in the processing of criminal cases, however, are solved by changes in the substantive Criminal Code.

The new project is designed to evaluate revise and codify the procedures by which criminal cases are handled by police, prosecutors and the courts, at both trial and appellate levels.

Representation from all groups involved in criminal revised booklet is part of the continuing effort of the Youth Leadership Division to provide young men with an opportunity to gain all the information they need to make their choice of alternatives under the draft law.

The CYO also assists schools and community organizations in setting up panel presentations of the subject by experts.

President is 'playing politics'

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has accused President Nixon of "playing politics" with the case of Lt. William Calley and the My Lai massacre.

In a statement to his colleagues in the House of Representatives, Congressman Ford declared that he was speaking out "with reluctance" on the Calley Case, but was doing so because of President Nixon's actions.

The full text of Congressman Ford's statement follows: "Mr. Speaker, with some reluctance, I would like to comment on the trial and conviction of Lt. William Calley for the murder of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai 3 years ago.

"I comment with reluctance, for I do not believe that any public official has the right, legally or morally, to attempt to influence the outcome of a judicial matter that is still in progress. Lieutenant Calley has been found guilty, and his attorneys are utilizing the normal appellate rights to which every American is entitled. I have no right, and no desire, to interfere with these processes, nor to judge Lieutenant Calley's guilt or innocence.

"I am speaking out, however, since the President of the United States, the highest elected official of our Nation, has seen fit to violate these very basic judicial precepts.

"Commenting on the My Lai incident in December, 1969, the President described it as "what appears to be a massacre" and declared that "under no circumstances was it justified." He also pledged that he would "do everything that I possible can to see that all the facts in this incident are brought to light those who are charged, if they are found guilty, and punished."

"These are noble words, and obviously in accord with the thinking of most Americans at the time, who had been shocked and horrified at the unfolding picture of the My Lai tragedy.

"But then came the conviction of Lieutenant Calley and his sentence to life imprisonment. Predictably, the fickle wind of public opinion changed. All the built-up frustration and horror was poured into an overwhelming feeling of sorrow and pity for the Lieutenant. A flood of mail and telegrams to the White House and to Congressional offices defended Calley and called for his release.

"The President apparently changed his position. He ordered Calley released from confinement, made him a prisoner at large, promised a personal review of the case, and there were even hints of an eventual pardon.

"What changed his mind? Does he have access to evidence and facts that were withheld from the jury and from the public? Or was he merely "playing politics" and shifting with the wind of public opinion?

"Mr. Speaker, I emphasize again that I do not intend to make any comment on Calley's guilt or innocence, or on what the ultimate disposition of his case may be. As an attorney, a former member of the Air Force Judge Advocate's Corps, and a member of the U.S. Congress, I am perfectly willing to let the matter be handled through the usual processes of law.

"Lieutenant Calley has been found guilty by a jury of his peers, six combat veterans who agonized for 13 days over a case that has brought shame upon their country and their Army. Theirs was not an easy task, and they deserve the praise of their fellow Americans for carrying it out with dignity and fairness. Their decision and the sentence will be reviewed, will be considered by the Military Court of Appeals, and could even come before the U.S. Supreme Court.

"No elected official, and indeed no one in the world, has and right to intervene in this orderly progression through the due process of law.

"Since the President, however, has chosen to interfere, where does he propose to draw the line? What about the more than 60 other American servicemen who have been convicted of murdering South Vietnamese civilians? Should they too be released from confinement and allowed to live in barracks while their cases are reviewed and appealed? What about those convicted and sentenced for lesser crimes of rape, robbery, or assault?

"And what about the 1,600 or more Americans who are being held prisoner in Vietnam? What is their situation and their future if responsible Americans take the position that our soldiers should not be punished for murdering their prisoners — even women and children?

"I certainly share with all Americans the feelings of confusion, of sorrow, and even of guilt that the tragedy of My Lai has created. With other Americans, I am even more convinced of this nation's great error in becoming involved in the internal affairs of Vietnam, and of the need for ending our involvement there with all possible speed.

'The Music Lovers' --study in excesses

United Artists presents
"The Music Lovers," produced and directed by Ken Russell, executive producer Roy Baird, screenplay by

Melvyn Bragg from the book "Beloved Friend" by Catherine Drinker Bowen and Barbara Von Meek. Music by Tchaikovsky, Andre Previn conducts the London Symphony. Panavision, DeLuxe Color. Rated R. At the Towne with the following cast:
Richard Chamberlain, Glenda Jackson, Max Adrian, Christopher Gable, Kenneth Colley, Izabella Telezyska.

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Drama Critic

Franklin Folger's well-padded matrons, when not indulging in a rich sundae in which assorted ice creams, syrups and fruits are interlarded with mounds of whipped cream, are wont to indulge in the old fashioned sort of romances which cinematographically resemble their desserts.

Initially one might suspect that Ken Russell's incredibly opulent biography of Tchaikovsky, "The Music Lovers," might attract just such that sort of patron and it indeed does resemble a sundae run amok, but surely the Wednesday matinee crowd would flee in an excess of sensitivity long before the Pathétique Symphony, for Russell and Moderation are obviously mortal enemies.

Tchaikovsky, who is treated with a shade more respect by Richard Chamberlain than by Russell, was a homosexual who sought to convince himself that he could be normal through marriage and is nearly driven mad when he is unable to consummate his marriage to an unfashionable girl, Nina, played with determination by Glenda Jackson, who seeks the status of an important union.

When Tchaikovsky almost kills his wife he accepts the refuge of a wealthy patroness, Madame Von Meek, and begins a fruitful period of composition on her country estate. It is the ideal arrangement, for the aging widow, fearful of her inability to gain the composer's approval close at hand, prefers to worship him from afar.

Nina, meanwhile, goes mad with the frustration of being unable to hold her husband and begins to fantasize assignments with other famous composers in hopes of making her husband jealous. Her grotesque mother, to abet Tchaikovsky's allowance, sells her daughter's body when the girl is too far lost to sense the impropriety of her action.

The girl winds up hopelessly mad in a nightmare of an asylum and her guilt-ridden husband is alleged to have "committed suicide" by drinking contaminated water which brought on cholera.

Russell wreaks creative havoc on his material with an impossible melange of symbolic fantasies, set to Tchaikovsky's music—the best way to view the film is with eyes closed as Andre Previn conducts the London Symphony—in which the ill-assorted characters recreate the worst recesses of their minds, erotic, violent, bisexual and homosexual, in a series of allegorical nightmares, such as Tchaikovsky blowing off the heads of all his friends and relatives to the beat of the "1812 Overture."

The film moves erratically from the overly-extended pseudo-lyric opening to the tasteless climax in the asylum. It is irrelevant to note that Russell does direct some imaginative camera work which occasionally becomes vividly splendid, considering the tasteless purposes to which the cinematography is directed.

The true music lovers would do better to skip the movie and buy the album.

'Little Murders' opening

"Little Murders," Jules Feiffer's satiric stage comedy adapted for the screen, opens locally today at the Quo Vadis Penthouse.

Starring Elliott Gould,
Marcia Rodd, Vincent
Gardania and Elizabeth Wilson, the production also features cameo appearances by Donald Sutherland, Alan Arkin and Lou Jacobi.

Feiffer's play opened on Broadway in 1967 but did not receive much attention until a production directed by Arkin two seasons ago earned the Obie and Outer Circle Critics Awards.

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA—This is one of many spots of scenic beauty that will be visited in the travelog, "Our Pacific Shorelands", to be presented Saturday at Wayne Memorial High School.

'Pacific Shorelands' last in YMCA series

The Wayne-Westland YMCA will present
"Our Pacific Shorelands," the last in the 1970-71 series of travelogs, at 8:15 p.m., Saturday, at Wayne Memorial High School.

"Our Pacific Shorelands" will bring to view California, Oregon and Washington in several exciting vacations telescoped into one. This tour takes you to a land of dramatic variety—fertile valleys and Sahara-like wastelands, lush rain forest and barren glacial peaks, busy industrial cities and long country roads.
Viewers will travel "El Camino Real", now California Highway 101, and absorb the romantic atmosphere of the early Spanish missions which are the sites of our modern coastal cities.

Near Santa Barbara, the seed-growing farms present an eye-thrilling mosaic of blossoms. Viewers will climb giant Mt.
Rainier and explore rare ice caves; they'll comb Oregon's beaches and shop in Portland's Lloyd Center.

'Flight of the Doves'-- something for adults

Columbia Pictures presents a Rainbow Production,
"Flight of the Doves," produced and directed by Ralph Nelson, screenplay by Frank Gabrielson and Nelson.
Color. Rated G. At the Quo Vadis and Carmen with the following cast: Ron Moody, Jack Wild, Helen Ray, John Molloy, Noel Purcell and cameos by Dorothy McGuire, Stanley Holloway.

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Movie Critic

When Hawk Dove, a slightly mad actor and costume artist, who does a Jekyll and Hyde cabaret act, learns that the death of his young nephew and niece is all that stands between him and a fortune, there begins a succession of bizarre disguises which removes "Flight of the Doves" from the ranks of children's entertainment.

There is decidedly something for the adults in Ralph Nelson's new films, albeit an attack of nostalgia.
For Dove, played ingeniously and with great cunning by Ron Moody in another of his masterfully larcenous creations, can be spotted only by the tattoo of a hawk on his wrist.

Surely there is no adult viewer who will not suffer an acute wave of nostalgia for the gory serial victims of a Saturday matinee youth who harried the pure-in-heart for 12 to 15 chilling episodes.

Madonna exhibit scheduled

The public is invited to a student Art Exhibit at Madonna College in the art department the week of April 18.

The opening and reception are scheduled for Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. The exhibit days are Monday through Thursday, April 19 to 22, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Moody is all this and more.
Nelson offers a few deft comic touches which should also be over the heads of the children, such as a classic chase through a series of doors straight out of Mack Sennett and a Laurelesque policeman who, among other things, attempts to peel a raw egg.

Basically, however,
"Doves" is an engaging children's film which should hold the adults' attention, despite a few cheap shots,
such as the appallingly uncutesy name of the villain.
girl, Helen Ray, are fleeing an unloving and insensitive stepfather—played as a chamion clod by Noel Purcell—who would like nothing better than control of the money left them. The children are seeking the warm refuge of their grandmother, Dorothy McGuire, despite a court decision giving their stepfather control of them.

But their journeys are menaced by greater hazards than the stepfather and the assorted police he has chasing them. There is the uncle, appearing in several unexpected guises as he seeks to lure them to their death over a cliff or hacked to pieces, all ends worthy of a respectable cliff-hanger.

The game is to spot Dove before the children do, which isn't as easy as it sounds, given some remarkable make-up creations, Moody's talent and a couple of red herrings.

At the end of the trail, grandmother awaits with a judge—a brief appearance by Stanley Holloway—to set things right in sentimental fashion.

"Flight of the Doves" is a most pleasant way to spend an evening.

Lily Tomlin to be honored

The occasion will include the presentation by the Women of Wayne of a special "Gild the Lily" award to Miss Tomlin, who was a student at Wayne State University from 1958 to 1961.

Miss Tomlin did her first serious acting in the WSU production of "Mad Woman of Chailot" and appeared in other University plays. Her "Laugh-In" sequences include

PROPOSED CENTER - The 26-acre new Wayne County Cooperative Extension Center will be similar to this layout, according to Donald Juchartz, director of the extension services. The center is expected to draw some 300,000 persons annually with its trial and demonstration gardens, model farm and lectures, consultations and experimental plots. The center is planned to become a cultural, educational and recreational haven for all county citizens whether from the inner city or suburbs.

Farm park should be complete in 16 months

A unique cultural-recreational center - the only one of its kind in the world - is being planned by the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Services of Michigan State University.

Situated in Wayne, the center will be county-owned and adjacent to the Wayne County Library on Van Born Rd. at Venoy.

The 26-acre center should be completed within 16 months, according to Donald Juchartz, director of the extension services.

Although the county is currently selecting an architect, Juchartz knows what he would like the center to look like. The idea of the center is something he has been working on for five years, he said.

The administration center will house the extension services offices, and provide lecture rooms, consulting areas, an auditorium and plant and soil laboratories.

The new administration center is a vital need for the extension services, Juchartz explained, because up to now, there has been no central place where people of the county could come for meetings and advice.

He estimated that last year 800 meetings were sponsored by the extension services to which more than 200,000 people came, but these meetings had to be scattered around the county because of a lack of accommodations.

Applied research plots will provide the landscape for the administration center with flowers, shrubs, trees and lawns being grown.

The model farm provides an excellent opportunity to show city-oriented youngsters how food crops and animals are grown and produced, Juchartz commented.

The farm will come complete with all the components that most city youngsters are familiar with. A must on every farm is the big red barn. This barn will be special with grandstand type seating inside to accommodate large groups for shows and exhibits.

An animal barnyard near the barn will house the usual array of farm animals - cows, horses, pigs, sheep, goats and several varieties of fowl.

A white farmhouse, windmill, duck pond and pasture area will round out the farm.

Eight to ten acres have been set aside for this purpose and annual attendance is anticipated at more than a half-million. There will be a greenhouse and a playground and picnic area so that visitors may explore the area at their leisure.

Juchartz estimates that the new center will cost approximately $2 million before it is completed, including the cost of buildings, plants and roads.

Grain program statistics listed

After 13 days of signup participation in the 1971 Wheat and Feed Grain Programs, there were 25,978 Michigan farms enrolled in the Wheat Program and 26,918 farms enrolled in the Feed Grain Program, it was announced by Nick Smith, chairman, Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Nationally the signup reports indicate 432,306 farms, representing 42 per cent of the eligible National domestic acreage allotment, are signed in the Wheat Program and 699,850 farms are signed in the Feed Grain Program. Set-aside acreage on the signed wheat farms totals 6,005,299 acres and set-aside on the signed feed grain farms totals 7,578,423.

Smith stated that a major change in the 1971 programs is the moving from diverted to set-aside acres. Diverted acres under past programs represented a reduction in the wheat or feed grain acres which could be planted.

Set-aside acres represent a reduction in total crop acreage on a farm but not necessarily a cut in wheat or feed grain acreage.

For example, if reproducer with a wheat allotment or feed grain base (or both) signs in the program, sets aside the required acreage which is equal to 75 percent of the allotment or 20 percent of the feed grain base, and maintains the farm's conserving base, he may plant all the wheat or feed grains he wishes. The only limit on planting would be the remaining available cropland on the farm.

It's Spring Again

The seasons come, the seasons go, but now again it's spring;
What joy to walk in April rain,
And hear the songbirds sing.
The sun with warm sparkling rays,
Peeps from behind a cloud,
A-bringing joy into my heart,
And I sing right out loud!

Do males prefer younger women

Dear Helen:

Would you please ask your male readers if they all prefer younger women? My father ran off with a girl of 23 when I was in my early teens. My mother never got over it.

Now my husband is nearing 40 and I worry. I feel so old. I'm almost 36. How could any man be true with so many young things around?

Don't tell me to see a counselor. I did and now I'm all the more frantic. I hear he's having an affair with his young secretary. -- W.X.

Beverly Science Fair features 65 projects

Budding scientists of Beverly Elementary School, 35408 Beverly Rd., Romulus, were standing a little taller Thursday.

The reason was that they were proudly wearing the red and blue ribbons of achievement, won for their entries in a Science Fair, held Wednesday, April 7.

Sixty-five projects, all started since school resumed after Christmas, were entered by a total of 300 students. Some were class projects, some group and some individual exhibits.

They ranged in subject matter from a Time Machine to an electronic teaching aid that beeped at right answers.

Fair guidelines had specified that entries should include areas of Space and Atomic Energy, Conservation and Geology, Biology, Zoology, Botany, Chemistry and Astronomy.

Live animals, parakeets, gerbils and hamsters were brought from home to animate the exhibits. Their owners had prepared research papers about them. They attracted lots of attention and, according to School Principal Terrel M. LeCesne, survived the day very nicely.

Judges, who awarded first, second and third place ribbons were Emerson Frey, science teacher at the high school, Eugene Barr, Merriman Elementary School principal, and Cornelius Johnson, area resident. Criteria for judging was originality, craftsmanship, accuracy, depth of research, creativity and overall effect.

Although the fair didn't open to the public until 4 p.m. last Wednesday, more than 200 visitors had viewed the entries by 5:30 p.m. when the school closed.

Classes of children visited the exhibits on Thursday

Making effort counts for 4-H members

"A journey of a thousand miles begins with the first step" — that's an old Chinese proverb. President John F. Kennedy quoted it in his inaugural address, just a decade ago.

The President was talking about beginning new programs in America but he could just as well have been talking about the 4-H achievement program. That's what it's all about, taking the first step.

It doesn't really matter if the 4-H'er becomes the most proficient in his club and gets a medal saying so. It does matter that he makes the effort.

There are over two million young people between the ages of 9 and 19 enrolled in the 4-H achievement program supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service. Starting with their own special interests they develop their skills. But they don't stop there. Before you know it they are helping the younger, newer members to "learn by doing."

As they gain confidence and added skills they find themselves working as junior leaders and spearheading activities in their schools and communities. And they seem to have more fun in 4-H than ever before.

A young woman from Pueblo, Colo., is an outstanding example of what can be accomplished in 4-H.

Georgia Mae Schwabe, 18, was named one of the 12 national winners in the 4-H achievement program in 1970. She received a $600 scholarship provided by Ford Motor Company Fund, program sponsor. She also was selected as one of six presidential award winners, the highest 4-H honor in the nation.

"I have the satisfaction of knowing that I can guide others to better themselves and humanity. 4-H has taught me responsibility — responsibility to my home, my club, my community and my country," Miss Schwabe says. She assumed such a responsibility by serving as a "big sister" for two years to a Spanish-American orphan girl in her 4-H Club.

Miss Schwabe, like the two million other 4-H'ers in the program, epitomizes America's youth at their achieving best.

Ford Motor Company Fund, Dearborn, Mich., has sponsored the 4-H achievement program for the last 20 years.

The fund provides incentives to 4-H members at various levels including four gold medals for outstanding young people in each county, an expense-paid trip to the 50th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28 — Dec. 2, for the boy or girl selected to represent the state.

Twelve Henry Ford II educational scholarships of $600 each are awarded to those named national 4-H achievement winners during the annual 4-H event.

The 4-H achievement program is arranged and announced by the National 4-H Service Committee with winners selected by the Cooperative Extension Service.

For more information concerning the 4-H achievement program and other 4-H activities contact the county extension office.

Branding Irons hold many 4-H activities

The recent monthly meeting of the Branding Irons 4-H Club was held at the Waltz Fire Hall, near New Boston.

The new members accepted this month are Tony Konopka, Sherry Samar and Jerry Canzales.

A report was given on a roller skating party held recently at Sumpter Roller Rink. Members of the club were invited to join members of the Huron Valley Club for an evening of fun.

For the girls interested in sewing, a Fashion Review will be held April 24 at Ford Motor Management Conference Auditorium.

For the young people interested in horses, a Equitation Forman and Clinic will be held on April 24 and 25 at Ravenwood Farm, South Lyon.

The annual Country Fair at Greenfield Village will be May 20, 21 and 22. This is one event the members look forward to each year.

A new program has been added this year. It is "Learning by Discovery", a three-day program of learning by doing with a list of interesting things to learn and do. It will be held June 29 to July 1.

The Vice President of the Club, James Simpson, was the winner of the spelling bee at St. John's School at Waltz.

A stork shower was given for the club leader, Mrs. Judy Korotney, by the 4-H Mothers recently at the home of Mrs. Louise Otter. Mrs. Korotney has just learned that she will give birth to twins.

The club would still like any area youth interested in joining 4-H to come to the meetings which are held the first Tuesday of each month at the Waltz Fire Hall. You must be enrolled in the Wayne County 4-H Club Program by June 1 if you wish to exhibit at the Wayne County 4-H Fair in August.

Fourth-graders join 'Look It Up Club'

The fourth graders at the Elwell Elementary School, Belleville, have been inducted into the "Let's Look It Up Club."

The program was conducted on April 6 by Bill Park, representative of the World Book Encyclopedia Company.

He was assisted by Mrs. Kay Winton 44900 Willis Rd., an Elwell parent who is in training under Park.

The program consisted of Park asking the children questions about words and subjects and how they would strive to gain further information about them.

He then went into a discussion on the differences between the encyclopedia and the dictionary.

The children were involved in the discussion and contributed greatly. Park then passed out quiz booklets which are to stimulate encyclopedia usage.

The children will complete the booklet and turn it into their teacher. The teacher will turn it over to Mrs. Winton to be scored.

All children completing the program will receive a Certificate of Merit stating that they participated in the "Let's Look It Up Club."

Each child was given a button stating, "We Never Guess—We Look It Up."

The teachers, Mrs. Alyce Humphrey, Mrs. Mary Jane Ferrell and Mrs. Alice Payne, as well as the children were very impressed with the program. The program is a service of World Book and was provided free of charge," stated Elwell Principal William S. Chizmar.

Bureau to make survey

The Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment and unemployment in this area during the week of April 19, Robert A. Yerkey, Director of the Bureau's regional office, Detroit, announced Monday.

This survey is conducted monthly by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor. A scientifically selected sample of households throughout the entire United States is interviewed.

The employment and unemployment statistics that are based on the results of this survey provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

Facts supplied by individuals participating in the survey are kept strictly confidential by law, and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

"LET'S LOOK IT UP" — Fourth graders at the Elwell Elementary School have been inducted April 6 into the "Let's Look It Up Club" by Bill Park, World Book Encyclopedia Co. The students eagerly awaiting their copy of "Let's Look It Up" booklet are (from left) David Bond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bond, 18035 Morton; John Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison, 16250 Bemis Rd.; and David Pavelka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Pavelka, 45740 Willis Rd.

Area students named to post

Three area students have been elected to literary society offices at Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C., it was announced Monday.

Patricia Gail Adkins, a 1968 graduate of Belleville High School, has been elected secretary of Sigma Kappa Rho Literary Society. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman R. Adkins, 1452 Gail Court, Ypsilanti. Miss Adkins is a sophomore majoring in elementary education.

James B. Phillips, a 1969 graduate of Belleville High School, has been elected sergeant at arms of Phi Beta Chi Literary Society. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Phillips, 2126 McGregor, Ypsilanti. He is also a sophomore majoring in practical Christian training.

Road Commission head backs Willow Run Airport expansion

The plan to expand Willow Run Airport into the world's largest air cargo facility, if augmented, will prove an economic tonic to the area, a Wayne County Road Commission official said Monday.

James M. Davey, managing director of the Road Commission, which operates Detroit Metropolitan Airport, said the expanded Willow Run plan "would give more value to Van Buren Township and Belleville, than it would ever take away."

He said he felt the $100 million expansion was a piece of public endeavor and "if it can't qualify as a benefit to Van Buren Township, we don't want it."

"Some citizens around the Willow Run Airport have protested the expansion because it will require some over 1,800 acres of land north and east of the present airport boundaries. Their concern is the alleged loss of tax revenues to the township and the county should such lands be acquired for airport purposes.

"What they obviously fail or refuse to understand," said Davey, "is the fact that these 1,800 acres will be subject to real estate taxes under Michigan law to the extent that they are occupied by persons and firms leasing them for business purposes. For example, all of the airline hangar buildings at Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport are on the tax rolls, in accordance with the Michigan statutes despite the fact that these premises receive no public services, such as, police, fire or related governmental services."

"Under its present ownership, the lands that now constitute Willow Run Airport are exempt from this leasehold taxation because the Airport is now owned by an educational institution. Thus, while Airport tenants pay no taxes at Willow Run as it is now operated, a sizable tax return would be expected from the entire expanded airport under the Road Commission plan."

Willow Run is owned by the University of Michigan and as such has a tax exempt status.

"With redevelopment in cooperation with industrial and commercial interests, Van Buren's tax base will be helped enormously," said Davey. "Romulus, then a township, fought the development of Detroit Metro for years until they realized what it was doing for its tax base."

"Now they are unhappy about expansion at Willow Run because it might take away some of their business."

"These two airports can create a corridor of affluence and we have the time and opportunity to create a planned community with a very substantial increase in the tax base," he said.

Davey added that his board knows that families will be displaced in the expansion. "We are aware of our responsibility in relocating these families and they have been told this," he said.

"The Road Commission was most careful to explain that the expanded Willow Run Airport Development Plan is still in its preliminary stages and that a final recommendation would probably be developed within the next 18 months," Davey said.

"Meantime, strong competition for the location of the new Regional Airport in southeastern Michigan has developed as the Flint area, Macomb County (with a view towards Selfridge Air Force Base) and other communities, including the County of Oakland, advance their plans on this subject," he added.

SCULPTURAL ART by students of South Junior High School is part of an art exhibit at the school district's Administration Building. The art exhibit will feature monthly displays of the artistic talents of students attending Van Buren Public Schools.

Beverly children study 'helpers'

The Beverly Elementary School Kindergarten class recently completed a social studies unit of study on community helpers.

During the two weeks of a special salute to community helpers, the kindergarten children were visited by their principal, Terrel M. LeCesne; first grade teachers Mrs. Annie Evans and Mrs. Edith Mattison; Dr. Norman Mitchell, dentist; Police Officers, Lewis Bryant and Arthur Laatz; Leonard Folmar, city clerk of Romulus; and by the school custodian Isiah Askew.

The class went out into the community to visit "helpers" at the Romulus Post Office, Carpenter's Farm, Inkster Fire Department and The Sanitation Department, Westland.

The kindergarten children, Mrs. Streety, kindergarten paraprofessional and Mrs. Rene M. Price kindergarten teacher learned that a community is a place where people live together and do things together and that each person depends on the others.

Forested land can have many practical uses

Forested land, like money, has potential for multiple uses, and its sound management calls for "leaving to the chief forester of the nation's largest organization of tree growers. "The bank I'm talking about is the ground, the principal we leave in it is the wood we leave standing, and the interest is that which we harvest," says Robert E. Jones, director of forest resources at the American Forest Institute (AFI).

Woods managers, like money managers, sometimes find it necessary to reduce the amount of principal if there are pressing obligations to be met, but they would rather leave some of that interest in and increase the amount of principal in other ways as well.

One of the most pressing obligations tree growers have to meet is to provide wood for the nation's housing and, to a lesser degree, paper products for its ever-increasing demand, although tree growers are aware of other obligations as well, Jones said.

Among them, he said, are provision for scenic enjoyment, recreation, wildlife habitat, watershed control, air purification, and he noted that fulfilling these obligations is what foresters call multiple use of forested land.

"Of course, there's a question of priorities, and as President Nixon has recently pointed out, housing is a high one," Jones said. "Environment begins at home, literally, but it doesn't stop there, in the ghettos or the suburbs. With sound multiple-use management we can improve the environment everywhere."

The multiple-use theory has a corollary, called "sustained yield," which means harvesting trees and replanting new ones to insure we never deplete the volume we began with, never take out more than we put in during the previous year.

Jones explained it this way: "On the approximately 510 million acres of commercial forestland under government and private ownership there were 596 billion cubic feet of growing timber in 1952 and in 1967 the total was up to 645 billion cubic feet despite the harvest of 197 billion cubic feet in the intervening years. Those figures come from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and are the latest available from the government.

"However, we're talking about growing stock, and on much private land in the West and government land throughout the country there is a quantity of old, standing timber which is way past maturity, isn't growing any more.

"If and when this is harvested and new trees grown in its place, the new trees can be harvested at some date in the future after reaching maturity.

"Say a tree, if it manages to survive fire, wind and insect in an unmanaged forest, stands on the same spot for 250 years, the last two thirds of its life being non-productive; in that same time, on that same spot, three trees could have grown to almost the size of the 250-year-old, and a fourth, in the form of a seedling, would be growing today," Jones said.

If the nation is to keep up with our population's increasing need for trees, he added, more land must be brought under multiple-use management for sustained yield, and less must be withdrawn.

"Thirteen areas including about 200,000 acres were set aside from Timber Production by federal legislation in 1970, and expectations are that the 92nd Congress will consider establishing 150 additional single-use areas," Jones said. "Yet, as President Nixon pointed out in his Economic Message of February 1971, timber yield must be increased on federal lands."

Jones direct concern is with increasing yield and benefits from private lands, such as those in the American Tree Farm System, which he directs. "The system, which AFI has sponsored since 1946, now has close to 30,000 individual landowners enrolled and dedicated to the practice of multiple use of their forestland. But that's only a fraction of the number of landowners eligible. About four million individuals, who own more than half the nation's forestlands, could be in this program.

"If they, as well as public agencies, were practicing multiple use for sustained yield," he said, "we could be assured of a long-lasting wealth of trees."

Child care

First day dangerous for baby

By WILLIAM G. CROOK, M.D.

"The first day of life is the most dangerous 24 hours in a child's life." So said Dr. Marvin Cornblath, professor and head of the department of pediatrics at the University of Maryland, as quoted by Pediatric News.

According to Dr. Cornblath, last year, in Philadelphia, 474 babies died on the day they were born. Yet only 249 deaths occurred among children 1 to 14 years of age. For Pennsylvania, as a whole, there were 1,907 deaths on the first day of life, compared to 1,382 deaths in children from 1 to 14 years.

Dr. Cornblath pointed out that many of these deaths are preventable. He specifically recommended that pediatricians and other personnel specially trained in the care of newborns attend all high-risk deliveries.

If a properly trained pediatrician is present in the delivery room, and is provided with the proper equipment, he can save a baby's life or prevent brain damage.

Only a week ago, one of our obstetricians, Dr. Roy Douglas, called me and said, "Bill, I need help in the delivery room. A mother has just come in who has suffered from high blood pressure and other complications of pregnancy. I'm preparing for a Caesarian section at once."

I rushed to the hospital, and stood by as the surgeon operated on the mother. When the baby was born it was blue and limp and did not breathe. The heart rate was slow — around 90. After clearing the baby's airway, the baby continued to be limp and made no attempt to breathe.

With a nurse helping me, using a special instrument I inserted a tube into the baby's windpipe and blew a couple of puffs of air into the baby's lungs. Simultaneously, I listened to the baby's heart. It immediately speeded up.

With oxygen running into one corner of my mouth, I repeatedly inflated the baby's lungs. After 15 minutes, he began to breathe.

Today, the healthy baby and his mother are being discharged from the hospital. So the story has a happy ending.

But there's one fly in the ointment — health insurance. Remarkably enough, although over 60 per cent of the Blue-Cross-Blue Shield and other plans pay for circumcision, few pay for intensive care of a newborn.

So we need a better system of priorities in insuring health services. Because when a service isn't paid for, oftentimes it doesn't get done.

(If you have a child care problem you would like discussed in this column, write in care of The Daily Eagle.)

Reader's ears itch constantly

By DR. LESTER COLEMAN

Although my problem is not a glamorous one, I have a feeling that your answer will interest a lot of people.

My ears itch constantly. I have tried to scratch them with everything that seems safe, but get no relief.

What do you recommend? Miss A.H.G., N.Y.

Dear Miss G.: Scratching certainly is not the answer to your problem.

That which people consider 'safe' for scratching frightens most physicians who deal with this problem in everyday practice.

If you knew how delicate is the lining of the ear canal, you would realize how "unsafe" are most of the homestyle instruments used for scratching.

I have seen the damage done by sharp-edged paper clips, hairpins, pencils, and toothpicks. Even a cotton-wrapped swab stick can damage the ear canal if it is handled too vigorously.

The entire ear canal is lined by a thin layer of skin that is susceptible to infection, inflammation and, particularly, allergy.

Unless the exact cause of the irritation is found, treatment of any kind is seldom effective.

Fungus infections, exzema, inflammation due to hair sprays and cosmetics, all can cause distressing itching.

Over-the-counter medicines should be avoided because they may contain drugs which, in themselves, are harsh and irritating.

Only those drugs properly screened by your own doctor should be considered "safe."

The newer cortisone ear drops are effective when they are chosen by the physician for a particular reason. Antibiotic drops and salves are also used to combat infection in the ear canal.

Anti-fungus medication and local treatment can control this source of unpleasant itching.

Finding the cause, however, is the only way to find the ideal treatment.

What causes a child to be born with an "opening" into the spine? Mrs. I.R., Ohio

Dear Mrs. R.: The condition you refer to as an "opening" in the spine is probably one that is known as a "spinabifida."

This is due to some error in the development of the embryo while in the mother's womb.

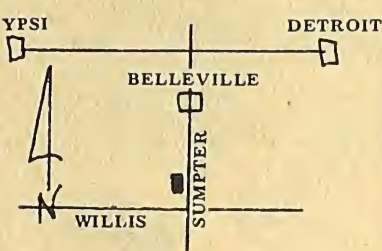

There are many variations of the condition, depending on the extensiveness.

Modern surgery has done wonders for spinabifida.

Eagles off to fast start

Romulus takes two early victories

By DANN BARKUME
Sports Writer

Cherry Hill's baseball coach, Jim Dollaway, will think twice before he again reschedules a baseball game because his opponent's diamond isn't ready to play on.

Dollaway offered the home field of the Spartans when Romulus was unable to whip their field into shape for the season opener for both clubs. The Eagles graciously accepted the offer, then proceeded to trounce their courteous opponents by a score of 7-0 in a non-league contest.

Romulus' Leighton Ballard proved to be overpowering as he gave up only a scratch single to Dale Petoskey in the sixth inning. Other than that he was perfect as the Eagles coasted to an easy win.

Ballard fanned nine and walked only one in chalking up the opening day victory. His mates capitalized on five Spartan errors and crashed in for three earned runs.

Cherry Hill could never get uncorked as Ballard led a stiff defensive team that didn't let the chilly temperatures affect their strong play. With the temperature in the 40's., the Eagles made it hot for the Spartans by jumping off to an early lead and waiting for their opponents to make mental mistakes.

The game was originally scheduled to be played at Romulus, but poor field conditions, and an understanding coach at Cherry Hill, moved the game to the Inkster school's home field.

Coach Lowell Johnson said he was pleased with the opening day performance. "We haven't gotten outside too much because of the cold weather gut the boys really put it all together today," Cherry Hill never threatened and Ballard led his teammates to an easy win.

Romulus then met with non-conference foe Wayne Memorial in the second encounter of the young season. Wayne proved to be a formidable opponent as the Eagles had to choke off a late rally to take an 8-6 victory.

Sam Buffalo took over the mound chores for Johnson's crew and pitched a strong five innings, giving up one run on five hits while striking out one and walking one. Ballard then relieved but didn't have the overpowering technique he used in the first game, as the Zebras patted him for five runs. A strike out to end the game extinguished a rally by the Zebras and gave Ballard the save.

Romulus collected eight runs on 12 hits and committed two errors. The Zebras

Tigers need break in weather hitting

Getting outside to practice is a thorn in the side of most baseball coaches during the early part of training. Bad weather and cold temperatures make it almost impossible to have decent practices outdoors and Belleville's Veets Kaminskis is no exception.

Kaminskis says that the biggest problem he is facing this year so far is the lack of outdoor practices. He lists his other areas under question as hitting and pitching with a good defense to base his early season work.

The Tigers had a poor season at the bat last year and Kaminskis doesn't really know what he has to work with yet this year. Pitching will also be a problem with a staff of five juniors with little experience making up Belleville's mound corps.

Ed Braham, Marty Miller, Dave Billings, Steve Theodore and Vern Gowen will handle the mound duties this season. All are juniors and none have gained much experience which could lead to problems when the going gets tough.

Larry Figgs will handle the backstopping duties for the Tigers this year. The senior catcher is returning and Kaminskis is hoping for a big year. John Thompson is back for another year at first base and Steve Billing will handle the keystone. Billings was a shortstop last season.

Bernie Gowen and Mike Dansard are returning to the Belleville outfield again this year. Dansard, only a sophomore, is seeking his second varsity letter as he broke into the line-up as a freshman.

Dan Smith will be the new shortstop and Bill Mida will take care of the chores around third base. Kaminskis feels

Eagles lose in opener

Romulus' tennis representatives ran into some tough opposition in the season opener and dropped a 6-1 decision to Cherry Hill in a non-league spring debut for both teams.

Cherry Hill swept all three doubles matches with little resistance, and claimed three of the four singles contests. Zane Kuryliw, tennis coach, figures on having his problems this season as he has to work with a young and inexperienced squad with little depth.

He is resting his hopes on Bob Selle and Ron Baker in the singles competition and Glenn Hayes has been moved to the third singles contestant, weakening even more the chances for the Eagles to be strong in the doubles.

Kuryliw, added that he hopes for a couple of wins this year but that the Eagles should be a powerhouse next season. "With the youngsters getting a year of experience this year, we can really develop some talent for next season."

Eagle thinclads lose to Ypsilanti

Jesse Meriweather's youthful and inexperienced track team from Romulus found the going tough early as they fell victim to Ypsilanti 64-49 in their first dual meet of the season.

Meriweather says that weather has been a factor so far this year and he hasn't been able to practice outside too much. With only seven lettermen returning and a relatively young team, Meriweather admits that he has a problem with depth this year.

Ron Buckley, John Arrington and George Doyle managed six runs on nine hits and had three errors.

Ken McMann provided the offensive punch for the Eagles as he went three for four at the plate. McMann knocked two doubles and got credit for two RBI's.

Rod Leake and Bill Eager were close behind with two hits each. Frank Mayeran also helped out as the senior third sacker cracked out a triple.

The Eagles, now 2-0 will go against Riverview, Annapolis and Huron this week. All three games are non-league contests as the Eagles aren't scheduled to hit the Twin Valley conference trail until May 3 when they play host to Willow Run.

Coach Johnson is pleased with the performance of his charges so far this season. "Even though its still early and the cold has bothered us, I'm happy with the way the boys have been playing."

Johnson has every right to be happy. Along with a 2-0 record and a couple of strong performances from his two big pitchers, the Eagles have been stroking the ball at a .344 clip as a team after the first two games

STRONG PERFORMANCE --- Romulus' Leighton Ballard hurled a strong one-hitter as the Eagles opened the 1971 baseball campaign with a 7-0 whitewash over the Cherry Hill Spartans in a non-league tilt last week.

Ballard and his mates looked impressive as they dominated the game and never gave the Spartans a chance to get uncorked. Romulus will not open the league campaign until May 3, when they play host to Willow Run.

Sports retort

One long last look

By Dann Barkume

Before we close the winter sports file and turn our attention to baseball, tennis, golf and track, a word of praise is in order for one of Romulus' all time greats on the basketball court. Nate Davis capped an outstanding prep cage career by being named to the Associated Press Class A All-State team.

Nate has rewritten the record books at Romulus and everyone who has watched him play has marvelled at his ability. Opposing coaches double-teamed him in an effort to inhibit his scoring and rebounding skills.

Davis has been approached by almost 140 colleges and universities and he can just about name the place he wants to attend. He has been offered scholarships from colleges, big and small, and he has the basketball knowledge and ability to make his college years as successful as his high school career.

Davis led a young squad this season and he proved to be capable of handling the job. He brought coach Dave Court the best record in 23 years, and it was Court's first year as leader of the Eagles. Davis was a leader and he had the ability.

The Eagles made it into the regional finals. By losing, it proved to be Nate's last game as a prep. An altercation at the end of the contest marred the performance by Davis, who once again proved to be the big man in the Romulus attack.

He was constantly grabbing rebounds and posed as a scoring threat every time he got the ball.

Nate deserved the all-state award and he should be proud of his accomplishments. If his play in college continues to shine as it did at Romulus, Davis can be assured of a long and prosperous career in basketball.

After Nate has gone, the Eagles shouldn't really miss him. Their young ball club will have a full year's experience under their belt next year and Davis was the only senior on the starting five. It looks like Dave Court is on the verge of what could become a cage dynasty at Romulus.

The Fever has struck

Tom Mooradian has been struck with spring fever and he asked me to take over the chores on these pages while he focuses his attention on activities farther north. After talking with the various coaches, it looks like it will be an interesting season in all areas with potential talent waiting for that chance to break into the starting line-up in most cases.

Interest and enthusiasm are running high and the athletes now in the spotlight are already working on the rough edges to get ready for another season. Games set for this week were a question mark as coaches and players kept one eye on the sky to see what Mother Nature had planned for them. As time goes on, the weather should become more cooperative and the participants can count on showing off their skills without too much worry about the weather.

Before we get started, here's hoping everyone has a great year. Also, here's hoping the coaches remember to call in those results. The number here is 729-4000 and Mr. Mooradian and I are here every day to take those results down.

Kinsella resigns as slo-pitch head

A meeting at Dave's Barber Shop on April 6 proved to be a turning point for the Romulus Slo-Pitch Softball League. Ivan Kinsella stepped down after many years as commissioner. Kinsella, employed at the Romulus Post Office, helped to organize the league and has been a major factor in the league's success over the years. He decided not to take the commissioner's job again this year, much to the disappointment of the members of the league.

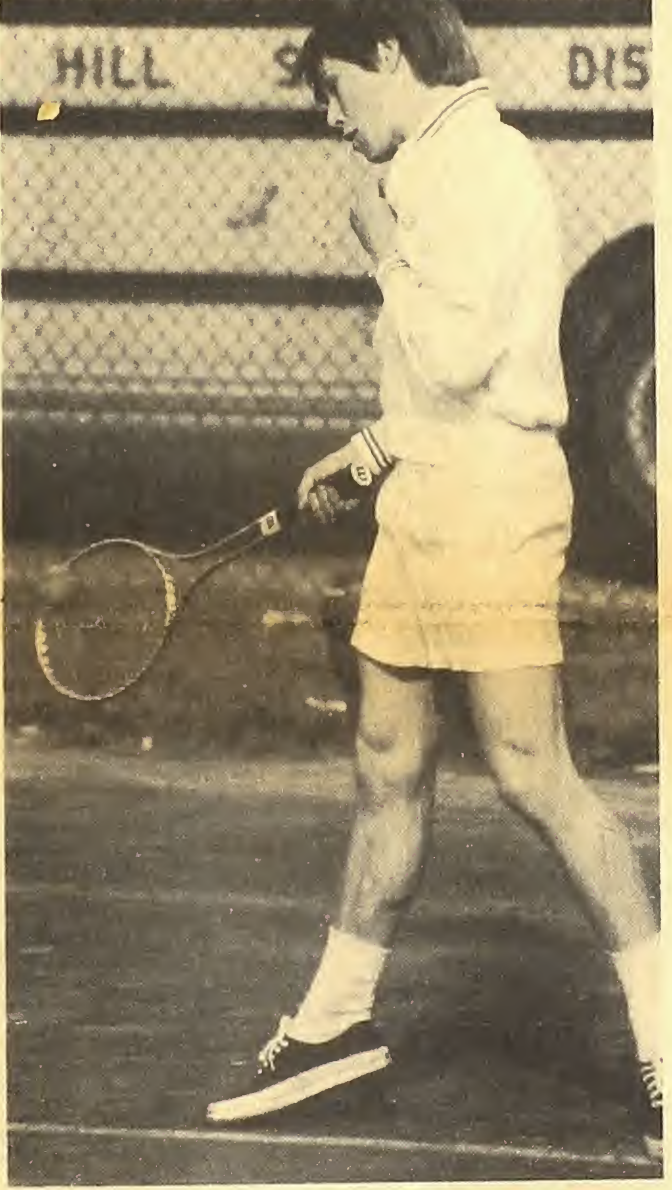

Bob Martin will serve as commissioner for the 1971 season.

Other officers are, Norm McLenon, treasurer and Charles Wilcox, secretary. The league's biggest problem for the coming season will be umpires. Anyone interested in umpiring in the league this summer should contact Jim Chase at 941-3754. Interested persons need not be registered, but should have a knowledge of the rules and regulations of slo-pitch softball.

Persons interested in forming a team or entering a team in the league should contact Martin at 933-3850 to discuss the possibility of entering. Martin said that the league is filled but commitments may change and a waiting list is being formed. The entry fee is $100.

Action is scheduled to begin on May 18.

OPENING DAY JITTERS—Romulus' Jim Smith looks a little bit tense as he prepares for a return shot in opening round action against Cherry Hill. Coach Zane Kuryliw's Eagles as a group were just a little jittery as they dropped a non-league meeting by way of a 6-1 decision. The Romulus tennis team is in trouble depth wise and the majority of the team has not tennis experience. The Eagles have hopes, however, of improving on the opening day setback.

Huron loses three, hitting is failing

Huron baseball coach Ron Smith is shaking his head in amazement as his Chiefs have dropped their first three decisions in the current baseball campaign. The Huron representatives dropped a 2-0 decision and got only one hit in the opener against Grosse Ile, they then dropped a 10-4 decision to defending champion Catholic Central and closed out the week's action with a no-hit 5-2 loss to Flat Rock.

The Chiefs are having personnel problems with veteran outfielder Rob Wood out with a dislocated elbow, Wood sustained the injury during gym class and was expected to be out for the season, but Smith reports that the letterman is working out already and could be back in a short time. Two other players have left the team within the first week of the schedule.

Ron Thompson was victimized in the loss to Grosse Ile, despite a four-hit performance. Thompson struck out seven, walked three and hit one. The Chiefs committed one error, but managed only one hit.

Sophomore Jamie Hinojosa got the nod for the second game against Catholic Central and nerves got the youngster in trouble early. Glenn Dregansky came intorelieve after 2 1-3 innings, but Catholic Central was already eight runs in front. The Chiefs were down by 10 before they could get onto the scoreboard.

Butch Suemnick proved to be a bright spot during the Catholic Central loss as the senior star cracked out a double and two singles. Suemnick leads the Chiefs in the batting department.

Flat Rock proved to be too much as the Chiefs fell by the wayside after dropping a 5-2 decision. To add to the embarrassment, Huron was unable to come up with a single hit.

Huron led 1-0 in the first inning, but fell behind. They battled back to tie in the fifth, but Flat Rock came back to win in the late innings. Despite their two runs, Huron was unable to come up with a single hit.

Smith reports that hitting has been a problem. "We will improve if we start to hit the ball. We have been hitting the ball good, but it has always been right at somebody. Once we get loose, we should be all right. It's still early in the season and I think we can do better."

Smith added that the defense has been good. "We haven't been all that bad in the field, except for one inning when everything went wrong. If we can just get started we can go a long way."

Huron plays host to Carlson on Wednesday, then travels to Romulus for a game with the undefeated Eagles on Friday.

Horsemen, unite

When was the last time you slapped a saddle on "Ol' Paint" or Queenie" and went for a nice ride? Has it been a while?

Icy roads and cold winds have kept most horsemen indoors, but soon spring and ideal riding conditions will be here.

Even now, the professional horsemen are training and polishing their show stock for another hopeful season. Show programs and prize lists are being sent out, while vets and blacksmiths are busy giving the final okays on their charges.

But what about the average horse-owner and his "Paint" and "Queenie"? Why aren't they getting all this attention? "My horses aren't registered — they can't go up against that kind of competition. Besides, I like to pleasure and trail ride," responded a local horseman.

For the owner of an un-registered horse there aren't many events or even organizations to join. Once you're past the 4-H age, it seems that you're also past the simple pleasures of horse meets and the congenial company of fellow horsemen.

A concerned group think that this need not be the case and have decided to take action.

"We would like to organize a Saddle Club for trail rides and other fun events. Just horse people getting together for a weak bench on the part of the Tigers would pose another problem for Kaminskis should his starters come up with injuries.

"I hope we can improve on last year's record and I want to really improve on the hitting. Last year was our worst season at the bat in a long time. If the boys can hit the ball with consistency, we could be a good team," Kaminskis said.

IT'S TUNEUP TIME — Even though the schedule has started, coaches are taking advantage of the warmer weather to give ball players a chance to improve on their skills in between games. Pitching, hitting, fielding, throwing and hitting are all skills that require a lot of practice. Romulus' varsity baseball team is no exception as they work out under the watchful eye of a coach. Even with a 2-0 record for their efforts this season, the Eagles are award of that old saying. Practice makes perfect.

Ford would ban sports on closed circuit TV

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has co-sponsored a bill in the House of Representatives to ban virtually all sports events from closed-circuit television, and force promoters to use home television and radio for broadcasting such activities.

Congressman Ford explained that the legislation would flatly ban the broadcast of sports events over closed-circuit TV whenever a radio or television network or station would be willing to broadcast it.

"I am convinced that free home television and radio are perfectly capable of providing a reasonable profit to the promoters of any major sports event of general interest," Congressman Ford said.

"For example, Joe Frazier and Mohammed Ali each received $2.5 million for their recent closed-circuit television fight. This same amount was paid by NBC for home TV rights to the 1971 Super Bowl, which provided handsome profits for the 40 players on each team and the team owners, as well as the National Football League."

Congressman Ford predicted that, unless action were taken, the American public might soon find itself deprived of the right to watch top sports events in the comfort of their home.

closed-circuit TV from the Common Carrier Bureau to the Broadcast Bureau, which also has authority over pay TV, television and radio.

The legislation was first proposed by Congressman Les Aspin, of Wisconsin, who has received widespread public support for the idea.

"There has been a tremendous public outcry over the huge profits made by the Ali-Frazier fight," Congressman Ford said, "and over the fact that its promoters even attempted to charge the Armed Services $500,000 for a live broadcast to our men in Vietnam."

The bill, co-sponsored by Congressman Ford, would transfer jurisdiction over

Rev. Kinniman Crawford presided at the six o'clock ceremony before an altar graced with two vases of gladiolas and mums.

For the double ring ceremony Dona Coggins was at the organ to accompany Rev. William Gram who was soloist.

Escorted up the aisle of the Grace Baptist Church by her father, Susan appeared in a Chantilly gown styled with a fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline and traditional wristpoint sleeves. Her bouffant skirt, formed of tiers of ruffles, terminated in a long, peacock train.

Her bouffant fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a headpiece of lace formed into petals with pearl and crystal accents.

Her semi-cascade bouquet was comprised of white carnations and pink roses.

As her sister's honor attendant, Mrs. Sharon Moyer of Belleville donned a formal-length green georgette frock designed with an empire bodice trimmed in white. Her wispy veil was held by a matching green bow.

The bridegroom's sister, Brenda Whittaker of New Boston; Debbie Nickells, and Willie Reichel and Sandy Reichel, sisters-in-law of the bride, were bridesmaids in gowns of blue, pink, yellow, and lavender, respectively.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Moyer of Belleville also served in the bridal party. Two-year old Roni Sue Moyer was her aunt's flowergirl and her brother, Cliff, five, was ringbearer. Wearing a green dress and matching veiled bow, Roni Sue carried a basket filled with pink and white daisies.

Rodney Whittaker of Belleville was best man for his brother. Others on the esquire side were Terry Reichel and Gary Reichel, brothers of the bride; Lynn Whittaker, another of the bridegroom's brothers; and Cliff Moyer, brother-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. Reichel chose for her daughter's wedding a white brocade A-line dress with pale blue companion coat. Her accessories were in light blue and her corsage was of white roses. The bridegroom's mother donned a lavender crepe and lace princess-style frock with white accessories and white rose corsage.

The new Mrs. Whittaker attended Belleville High School and her husband Airport High in Carelton. He is currently serving with the U.S. Army.

Ideas for using leftover yarns

BY LOIS HOLMES

Dear Readers: Still looking for ways to use up left-over yarns? Here is a really good idea for a pillow top from scrap yarn. Use a 4-ply knitting worsted, and No. 7 needles. You can double up or triple your fine yarn, to get the weight of knitting worsted.

PATTERN STITCH: Multiple of 12, plus 3. ("x" is used in place of asterisk to directions).

Row 1: Knit
Row 2: K1, sl 1, k 1, pss0, xK 9, sl 2, k 1, pss0 the 2 sl sts over the k st. repeat from x, end with K 9, k 2, tog, k 1.

Row 3: K 1, xP 1, k 4, (k 1, yo, k 1) in next st, k 4, repeat from x, end with p 1, k 1.

Repeat Rows 2 and 3 for pattern stitch.

You can change colors every 2 rows or make the stripes as wide as you like. For a pillow about 15 x 15 inches, cast on 75 sts. This pattern forms its own scalloped edge and is lovely for scarves, lap robes, baby blankets and so forth. You can make strips of this pattern and put them together to form any size afghan. A multi-color fringe would look lovely and give it a perfect finish.

Dear Readers: Some time ago, Mrs. Reonshagen of Liberty, N.Y. requested a pattern for fringed mittens. Mrs. Rue of Hayward, Calif. sent us the following pattern for Dust Mitts with knitted in fringe.

Using 4-ply knitting worsted, and No. 7 needles, cast on 26 sts. Work cuff of K 1, P 1 ribbing for 10 rows. Row 11: Insert needle into st as you usually do when preparing to knit a stitch, but double the yarn to form a 1 1/2 inch loop. Wrap this loop around the needle and finish the stitch. Make 13 of these loop sts and k to end. Row 12: Knit across. Repeat these 2 rows until there are 19 loop rows, pulling loops down tightly after each stitch. Bind off and sew side seam and top. On Row 12, you will be knitting through 2 loops at one time.

Dear Readers: I hope you have all been doing your homework and making your squares for our "Altogether Afghan." We are now ready for Square No. 4. RIPPLE STRIPE PATTERN: Multiple of 8 plus 1. ("x" is used in place of asterisk.)

Row 1: (Right Side) K 4, xP 1, k 7, repeat from x, end P 1, k 4.

Row 2: P 3, xK 3, p 5, repeat from x, end K 3, P 3.

Row 3: K 2, xP 2, k 1, p 2, k 3, repeat from x, end last repeat, K 2.

Row 4: P 1, xK 2, p 3, k 2, p 1, repeat from x.

Row 5: K 1, xP 1, k 5, p 1, k 1, repeat from x

Row 6: Purl
Cast on 33 sts and repeat these 6 rows until piece meas about 6 inches.

Dear Readers: It is VERY important from time to time to bring up the subject of measuring. New comers to knitting and crocheting often find it a little tricky to measure their work as they're progressing. Always lay work flat on a smooth level surface (not on carpeting), being careful not to stretch. Measure up to the needle, (not over it). When measuring an armhole depth, do not measure the curve or shaped edge of the armhole. To make it easy and accurate, run a basting thread along the row that has the bind off stitches at the beginning of the armhole shaping and measure straight up to your needle from that point. Another good point to remember is that when you have measured, for example, the back of your garment up to the start of the armhole shaping, simply measure the front to the back, instead of using the tape measure again. Proper measurement is so important. A good fitting garment is so dependent on good measuring. However, there is no substitute for matching row by row. A row counter costs less than 50 cents. You will find the finishing much easier and the look of perfection that goes into the original will give you a real sense of satisfaction.

Canned peaches lead April plentiful foods

Tops on the April plentiful foods list from the U.S. Department of Agriculture are canned peaches, reports Mrs. Sheila Morely, Michigan State University consumer marketing information specialist.

California, where most peaches are grown, reported a record crop of clingstone peaches (the kind grown almost exclusively for canning) in 1969 and another fine year in 1970. Two enormous crops in a row have resulted in a tremendous surplus of canned peaches, and some special values during April.

WALNUT, IOWA, BUREAU: "Mary had a little cold but wouldn't stay at home, and everywhere that Mary went, the cold was sure to roam. It wandered into Polly's eyes and filled them full of tears, it jumped from there to Jimmy's nose, and then to Michael's ears. It painted Jennie's throat bright red, and swelled poor Patty's head; Billy had a fever, and a cough sent Jack to bed. The moral of this little story is very quickly said -- Mary could have saved a lot of pain if for just one day she'd have stayed in bed."

Homemade breakfast in a glass

Gulp and go breakfasts -- the kind you mix in a glass -- can be made from ingredients found in the average kitchen. Milk, eggs, sugar and flavoring are all it takes to make a delightful breakfast to start the day. But if you follow the do-it-yourself route, you have to get up and get at it, says Mrs. Sheila Morely, Michigan State University consumer marketing information agent.

Beat a fresh egg into a glass of milk flavor -- with a dash of nutmeg, add a tablespoon of sugar and a few drops of vanilla and you have your own breakfast in a glass, she explains.

Eggs are an outstanding source of protein. Nutritionists point out that two eggs make an adequate substitute for a serving of meat.

With the price of eggs as low as it is today, a serving of two eggs costs about 10 cents. Your quickie breakfast of egg, milk and other ingredients thus costs about 10 cents a serving.

In time of sorrow, quiet and capable handling of those necessary details can help to bring a measure of serenity to those who are bereaved. We strive always to attend to final arrangements in a dignified manner, out of respect for the departed as well as consideration for the living.

Legislature introducing bills to control oil company acts

Representative James Bradley (D-Detroit) today at a press conference in Lansing unveiled two bills which he feels "will protect both the service station operators and the long suffering public from the price gouging and discriminatory practices of the major oil companies." One bill prohibits wholesale gasoline distributors from arbitrarily charging gas station owners different prices for the same product. The second bill protects the public by requiring the licensing of all service station operators and managers by a State Service Station Board. Bradley blasted "the callous and monopolistic practices of the rich giants of the oil industry which place service station operators in the position of economic serfs." "They shackle their operators by means of leases and requirements that they buy products only through them and then turn around and sell gasoline at a lower price to another of their dealers or to some independent station operating a few blocks away. The oil companies have thrived as a result of our free enterprise system and special tax breaks, such as the oil depletion allowance, yet they conspire to prevent the operation of a free market in their own industry."

Bradley continued, "Anyone who thinks that gasoline price wars symbolize healthy free market competition is mistaken. Manipulation, not competition, governs the market. The price may be lowered in one part of a city and not in another or the price may be lowered during a period of minimum travel and raised on holiday weekends. It is clear that no relationship is maintained between the cost of production and the cost to the station and to the consumer. The only beneficiaries of this situation are the manipulators themselves—the big oil companies. Both the dealers and the public lose."

"The service station operators are the bloodied victims of these manipulations. The fluctuation in the price of gasoline has only a minor impact on the profit of the oil companies, but it has a major impact on the profit of the operators."

"Twenty-four cents of the price of each gallon of gasoline represents fixed cost—12 cents for production and 12 cents for taxes. The remainder represents the operating revenue and profits to the oil company and the operator. The companies protect themselves but not the man running the service station. For example, one dealer may be paying 27 cents for his gas and selling it for 29 cents, while the oil company may charge another of its dealers in the same locale 29 cents a gallon, yet he must sell that gas at 29 cents to remain competitive. It should surprise no one that these practices result in 30 per cent of the service station operators going out of business annually."

Bradley then pointed out, "The public also suffers from the tactics of the big oil companies. They gain little from changes in the price of gasoline since the price evens out over the year, and they lose for two reasons. First, many good operators are forced out of business each year. This deprives the public of quality repairmen who are replaced by people not qualified to put the "service" in "service station." Second, if a dealer cannot make a profit on his gasoline sales, he must make them on his service and repairs. Thus, gas wars drive up the price of service."

Bradley continued, "We, the general public, suffer in another way. We must live with the battlefield ruins of gasoline price wars—the blight of abandoned gas stations. Recently, the Detroit Common Council took the extraordinary step of declaring a moratorium on new gas station construction because of the number of empty and unsightly stations standing as monuments of the contempt in which the big oil companies hold the welfare of both their dealers and the public."

"The attitude of the service station operators themselves stands in marked contrast to that of the big oil companies," commented Bradley. For example, the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association of Michigan favors my bill proposing state registration of all service station operators and managers by a service station board. This board would establish standards of competence in service station operations and revoke or suspend certificates of registration in the event of incompetence or the use of unfair or deceptive practices. This would assure the reliable service which is so badly needed and so impossible to achieve with the present rate of turnover in the business."

Graham film to be shown

"The Restless Ones," considered one of the most successful motion pictures yet produced by Evangelist Billy Graham, will be shown in Ann Arbor at 7:30 p.m. on April 17 at Huron High School Auditorium.

With the accent on youth, this feature-length film deals imaginatively and dramatically with the teenage crisis. With a background setting provided by the 1963 Billy Graham Los Angeles Crusade, and artfully woven into the story pattern, "The Restless Ones" is a hard-hitting, bold approach to our social problems.

As one reviewer said, "Here is a picture that tells the world the truth and comes up with an answer, not an easy answer, but an answer from beyond us."

"The Restless Ones" is being sponsored by Huron Valley Youth for Christ. Admission is $1.

Consult Badui

High-ranking Indonesian politicians sometimes consult Badui tribesmen, who claim soothsaying and spell-casting powers.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Much talk is still heard on the uncertainties of God and His ways. It is all so needless. Is not this needless blab, blah, blah heard because people prefer to see God - NOT as He is - but as THEY want to see Him? Does not this needless, and sometimes silly talk, indicate people are trying to re-make God in the image of man - instead of concentrating on man in the image of God?

Does not this needlessness also question the certainty that God controls all destiny? Plus the prospect of eternal life? Does not this needlessness indicate a wish to do what people want to do - and want to do it NOW - and eternal life can wait? Does not this needlessness help explain why people say God's ways - His rules - are breaking down when in fact it is man's way that is at fault?

We think these questions are worth thinking about. Don't you?

Huron-Clinton Authority planning ahead

"Planning ahead for tomorrow's one of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority's major responsibilities," said William E. Kreger, Wayne County's Representative on the seven-member Board of Commissioners as he described a couple of future projects for Wayne County. "Our staff and planners must try to visualize the shift in population, residential and industrial expansion and other factors that are now beginning to reshape Wayne County and southeastern Michigan," remarked Kreger. He said that eventually the citizens of Detroit and Western Wayne County would have a chain of three recreational sites extending from Belleville along the Huron River to Flat Rock in addition to use of other Huron-Clinton parks. These sites include Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville, Willow Metropolitan Park near New Boston and Oakwoods Metropolitan Park near Flat Rock.

The best-known site is Lower Huron Metropolitan Park, which covers 1,000 acres and has served over 19 million persons since it opened in the early 1950s.

The primary facilities now open include picnic areas, parkway, golf course, nature trails, tent camping area for organized youth groups and comfort stations. In a few weeks the Nature Center will open and finally on Memorial Day weekend the swimming pool, bathhouse and food service areas will open. Some schedules may be limited until week-ends until the full summer staff arrives.

"Opened for limited use last year was Willow Metropolitan Park," remarked Kreger, who pointed out that there facilities include roadways, parking lots, picnic sites, comfort stations and heavily wooded areas. Limited use will continue for most of 1971-72 until the development of a Special Activities Area, which will combine a swimming pool-bathhouse and food service complex, water, sewage and other utilities, parking lot and landscaping.

This park has been under development since the 1960s and major use is not expected until additional facilities are available. State of Michigan recreation and bond program funds are helping develop this 1,500 acre site.

Oakwoods Metropolitan Park, covering 1,500 acres near Flat Rock, is under preliminary development and last December grading for an interior road and parking lots began. However, this site will be in public use for three to five years or longer. The primary facilities are to be a nature Center, trails for "self-guided" hikes, group camp site and picnic areas.

"Willow and Oakwood Parks, while not ready for intensive or immediate heavy use, are an investment in the future recreational needs of Wayne County citizens," stated Kreger.

He also pointed out that many area residents use other Huron-Clinton sites such as Hudson Mills in Ann Arbor, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica and Metropolitan Beach near Mr. Clements, or such smaller sites as Marshbank Park near Pontiac and Delhi and Dexter-Huron parks northwest of Ann Arbor.

Kreger, who was appointed to the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority Board of Commissioners in 1954, replaced the late Oscar A. Kaufman, then of City Ban of Detroit.

Commissioner Kreger's responsibilities include making policy decisions, including land acquisition, planning of new parks, facility charges, awarding of contracts through competitive bidding, approval of all expenditures, the levy of the 1/4 mill tax upon the five-county areas of Wayne, Livingston, Macomb, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties. Members of the HCMA

Commissioner serve without salary.

Kreger is a well-known public servant having been on the Wayne County Road Commission from 1955 to 1970 and was for several years Mayor of Wyandotte. He is vice-president of the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Wyandotte and publisher of the newspapers serving Wyandotte and several downriver communities.

THE FROSTED CASTLE — The medieval castle model was made by Karen Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dunham, 5873 Dellor Rd. Karen constructed the display from cardboard and covered the entire castle with cake frosting. This was done as a project in Mrs. Lee's sixth grade at Denton Elementary School.

CYO program growing

More than 5,000 boys and girls and young men and women will participate in Spring sports program of the Detroit Archdiocesan Catholic Youth Organization.

That is the word from Frank Conolly, CYO athletic director whose network of football, basketball, baseball, softball and track leagues has provided worthwhile recreation for almost 45,000 in the past twelve months.

The grade school boys baseball league, one of the oldest and biggest baseball programs in the Midwest, has drawn 128 teams for its 29th season. The high school girls softball league has 43 teams and the grade school girls softball league has attracted 105.

These leagues will begin their seasons during the week of April 18, and conclude in June.

Despite the erosion of school closings and consolidations, the enrollment in the baseball league has held up remarkably well. The loop lost 12 teams this Spring but gained seven new ones, three of them in the core city of Detroit.

The high school girls league has lost one club, but the grade school girls loop has shown a surprising increase of 10 teams. The circuit lost 10 but gained 20 new aggregations.

The grade school leagues will play ten-game seasons to determine their division champions. These leagues do not hold post-season playoffs among the division titleholders to determine the league champion.

The high school league, which plays seven games in its regular season, does hold a one-defeat knockout tournament among division winners to crown a league champion.

Twenty-two schools have entered the track league, which is now in its fifth season. Schools participate in dual and triangle meets to settle the supremacy of the divisions. The season ends with the league-wide track and field competition.

The track season will open during the week of April 26th and the end of June 6.

Council sets installation

Romulus Area PTA Council has selected May 25 as the date for its annual Installation Of Officers Banquet, announced Mrs. Mary Ann Treder and Mrs. Betty Hill, co-chairmen for the event.

The council was first formed in 1950 when Herbert Shain was elected president. Since then eleven presidents have served one or two year terms.

Each school in the district that has a parent-teacher organization is entitled to send five delegates to sit on the council. From these delegates officers are chosen. During the 20 years PTA Council has existed in Romulus it has addressed itself to a variety of problems, projects and activities.

Members have served not only their local units but on area committees, having taken active roles in spearheading drives for improvements in the educational system of the district.

At monthly meetings, which are alphabetically rotated between schools, delegates have an opportunity to share information and cooperate in district-wide undertakings.

Each spring following local and council elections, a gala banquet is held to honor outgoing officers and welcome those who have been newly elected.

Costs for the banquet are divided equally between local units and Council. Tickets are awarded to chairmen and officers.

This year the dinner will be held at the Romulus High School. Mrs. Pearl Bower and her staff will cater the meal that will feature Swiss Steak.

Entertainment will be local talent.

Pack 736 holds meeting

Cub Scout Pack 736 sponsored by St. Aloysius Parish, Romulus, held their recent pack meeting in the school hall.

The Cub Scouts from Den one and Den two spent their March Den meetings making Easter baskets which will be distributed to a class of Head Start children and for the Penrickton Center for Blind children.

Wolf badges were awarded to James Beck and Dennis Helwig. Michia Michael Poulin recieved an Assistant Denners badge.

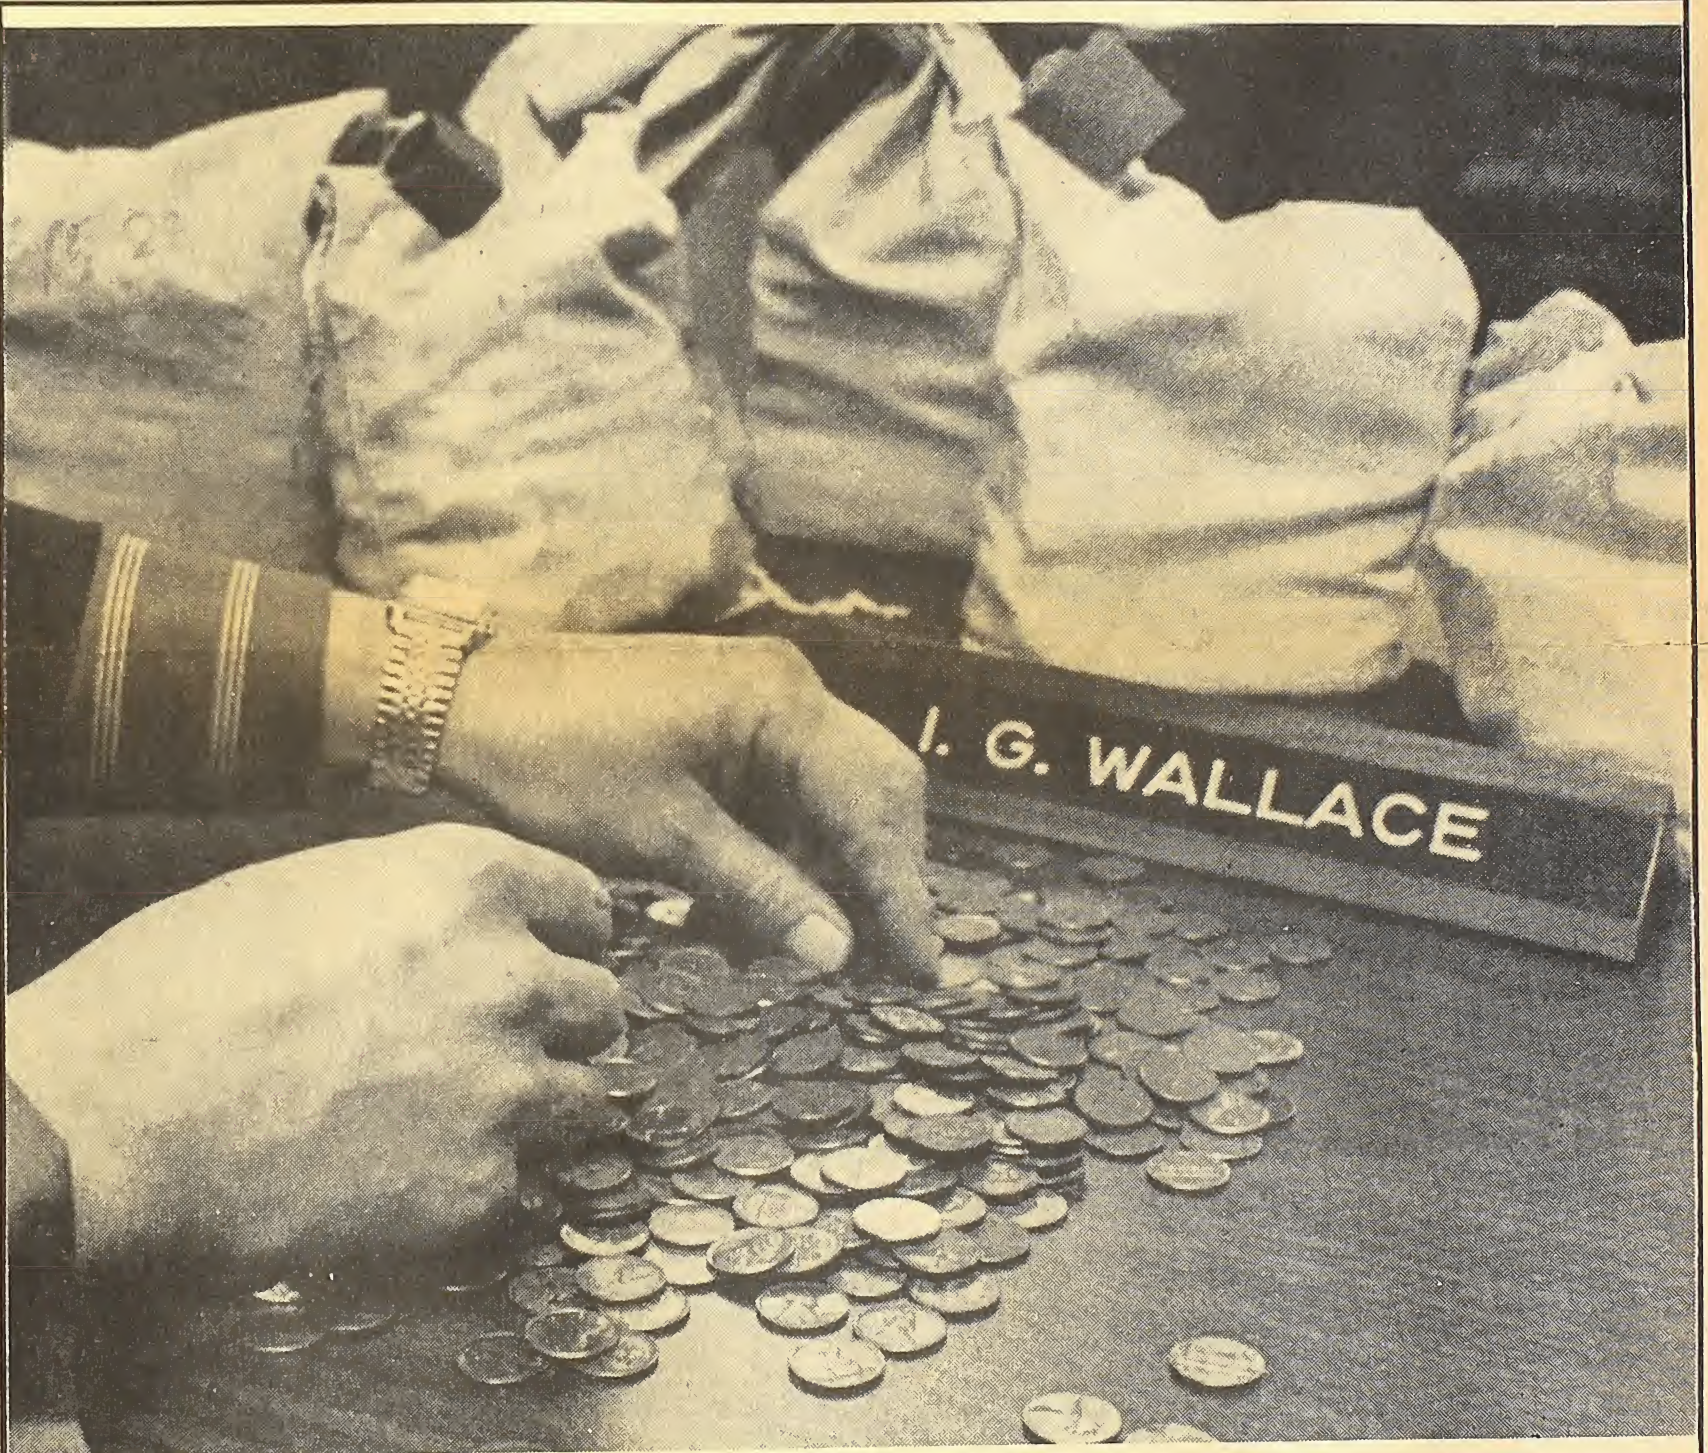

Plans were announced for a train ride to Plymouth and a tour of Wilson's Dairy. The next pack meeting will be held on April 28.

Easter Seal dance is a 'success'

The Easter Seal Dance held under the sponsorship of the Romulus Jaycees has been reported a "Success".

But dance officials reported that the proceeds of their initial dance for the benefit of the Easter Seal Society held at the Hilton Inn, near the Detroit Metro Airport were used up in meeting dance expenses. Attendance was below expectations, it was stated.

The Romulus Jaycees would like to thank the Hilton Inn, the Wyandotte Coca-Cola Bottling Co., the bands, "The Midnight Shift" and the "Pre-Science Illusions" and others who made the dance possible.

We helped Clark Brown retire on a penny.

The request seemed simple enough. One of Mr. Brown's fellow executives wanted a special plaque with a 1927 penny and a 1971 penny to commemorate Mr. Brown's 43 years of company service.

The 1927 penny was easy. But the 1971 penny was another matter. When coin dealers couldn't help, he called on his friend and banker, Irv Wallace, NBD's Belleville manager.

Irv learned that no 1971 coins would be circulated until all the 1970 coins had been put out by the mint.

Then he decided to try NBD's

Money Museum. They called the Director of Public Relations for the Philadelphia Mint, who responded by forwarding a penny straight from production.

The Money Museum passed it on to Irv Wallace, who in turn passed it to his friend, who in turn put it on the plaque and presented it to Clark Brown.

Which just goes to show, that it doesn't take much to start all the wheels turning at NBD.

The bank to see is NBD. National Bank of Detroit.

PASS IT ON by L.M. Boyd

It's understood most girls now reach maturity at an earlier age than did their grandmothers. But why? A Pakistan medical man thinks he knows. Rats grow up more quickly if kept in strong artificial light, he says. And so do mice. Girls who are brightly illuminated electrically, he claims develop more swiftly therefrom than did the candlelight ladies. Interesting. Fairly.

When a man sees a crumb on his sleeve, he'll flick it off. But a woman, who's different in so many ways, will pick it off . . . That word mutt, which we affectionately dub our dog, comes from the word mutthead. Now that? . . . Most properly decorated, a camel's eye has two lids, one transparent like a curtain, the other opaque like a drape.

No fisherman should forget: "When the wind is from the north, the fish to bite are loath; when the wind is from the south, they come with open mouth; when the wind is from the east, they won't bite in the least; when the wind is from the west, 'tis when they bite the best."

Customer service: Q. "What proportion of the college kids have tried marijuana?" A. About a third, it's said. Q. "What's a fink?" A. Cross between a ferret and a mink, isn't it? Q. "In meat, which is better, a prime cut or a choice cut?" A. Aprimecut. It's fattier, too.

Women who wear turbans tend to be bossy. Men who like suspenders generally save their money. Girls who own more than five purses almost invariably enjoy night-clubbing. Young fellows who sport blue shoes pride themselves as lovers. Ladies who affect chokers are apt to lie about their ages. Husbands who lounge about their house in jump suits rarely lose their tempers. And wives who decorate themselves with ropes of crocheted pearl beads are inclined to cry during nostalgic movies.

What's the best time of day to water the lawn? In the evening, you think? So thought I. But that's wrong, evidently. An authority on the matter says the morning hours are best. Watering in bright sunlight doesn't burn the grass, he insists. Rather, it gives tachance to dry off. And that keeps it from getting all funny with fungus.

Nexttime you're outdoors, take a look at some couple walking down the street. In the man, all the action is in the knee. In the woman, it's in the hip. No complaints, merely wanted to mention it. Here's the official regulation at the Second National Bank of Richmond, Va.: The lady employees are allowed to wear pantsuits. And the men are allowed to wear kilts, too. But not more than four inches above the knee.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in "Pass It On" wherever possible. Please address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 17076, Fort Worth, Texas 76102.
